BOXING, GOLF
AND ATHLETICSRACING SEASON
SUCCESSFUL IN ENGLAND

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The flat racing season in England, which ended with the first week of November, was accounted quite successful notwithstanding that it ran into the third year of the war. There were twenty-three meetings in England, eleven at Newmarket, four at Lingfield, three at Gatwick, three at Newbury and two at Windsor. There will be jumping meets during the winter, but as special trains are not permitted and the supply of petrol for automobiles is limited, the crowds are not expected to be up to the usual standard.

The king continued to lend his patronage and appears in the final list of winners with purses aggregating $5,685 to his credit. All the classic races of the English turf were maintained, although many of them did not come up to the value of the past years.

The leading winning owner was E. Hulton, a newspaper proprietor with $86,820. The Earl of Derby, whose time is almost wholly taken up by his duties as under secretary of war, kept his racing establishment intact and was the second winner with $45,830. The Duke of Portland was third with $40,625, Lord Falmouth was fourth with $32,500, J. Buchanan, fifth with $25,425, and Lord D'Abernon, head of the liquor control board during war time, is sixth, with $23,260. The winning jockey was S. Donoghue, who had 43 mounts first past the wire.

A day's racing at Newmarket, known as "headquarters" of the English turf, retained this fall many of the picturesque features of pre-war days, with some distinctly novel attractions. The crowds were perhaps a bit more subdued although English racing throngs never have quite the same exuberance, or the same tendency to "ride" a winner home as one meets on the tracks around New York, Latonia or Louisville.

The winners were calm and somewhat disdainful, self-assured, while the losers lose with no disposition to "grouse" or "grouch" as it would be rendered in "American."

Newmarket lies seventy miles northeast of London, but this is not accounted a great distance when a splendid big motor car has been successfully requisitioned and the day's program offers a card of seven well-filled races.

The way leads out the famous Seven Sisters range, rising like a giant's village and its royal forest, which, just a few weeks before the war started, rang and echoed with the chorused voices of thousands of German singers. The old English inns and public houses along the road always are a source of interest to visitors and are so because of their quaint construction and still quaint names. There are the "Fighting Cocks," the "Hill and Horsehoe," the "White Heart," the "Coach and Horses," the "Three Tuns," and scores of others.

English countryside is beautiful at all times of the year, and in the autumn months the grass is as green in the fields as in the spring. "Six Mile Bottom" is a welcome station along the way, for from there to Newmarket lies a six mile stretch of arrow-straight road which invites speed. Limited only by fear of the county constable, Newmarket, somewhat slow and sleepy by general disposition, is alive and throbbing with excitement on racing days.

The road from town to track is fairly clogged with a mass of vehicles. One finds wartime racing is a bit cheaper than the ordinary sort and entrance to the grandstand is to be had for one pound with two shillings extra as a war tax. The stand is not large, for England takes its racing in the open—on the broad lawns and in the open air paddocks. Betting goes on "as usual," with the bookmakers calling their odds in a manner calculated to attract and persuade. In return for a five pound note, or a one pound note, or perhaps your "two and six" in silver, you get a bit of numbered parchment, which may or may not be worth preserving.

Newmarket is not a race track in the American sense. The grandstand and surrounding enclosures seem rather a gathering station set in the midst of never ending fields of wonderfully green and velvet turf. But to the right there are the familiar white rail fences which merge the several slants or straightaway courses into the home stretch. Witnessing the start of an English race is not vouchsafed to the spectators. As it is a mile race the horses start a mile away from the grandstand. If it is a mile and a half race, they start a mile and a half away. The tracks here are built for racing, not to afford a spectacle. The racegoer must be content with the brief struggle he sees in the last hundred yards or so and the flash past the winning post. Even this thrill is denied when occasionally the finish line is moved a furlong or so up the track to conform to some century-old tradition.

During an afternoon's racing, this year one could see on the tracks all the colors long familiar to the English course, the primrose of Lord Rosebery; the black, white cap of Lord Derby; the white, black sleeves, of the Duke of Portland; the yellow-black cap of the Duke of Westminster; the blue and yellow hoops of Baron de Rothschild; the dark blue and buff stripes of the Earl of Jersey; the light blue and pink sash of Major Waldorf Astor, and the scarlet of Lord Decies, who married Miss Vivian Gould.

Each racing throng contains its share of khaki officers on inland duty or home from the front on leave. Many of them, like Major Astor, own horses which are entered for the various events.

The return to London from Newmarket by motor clearly makes up for any thrills that may have been wanting at the tracks. First there is the headlong rush along the road to cover as many miles as possible before the fast-setting sun robs the land of its protecting rays and night closes in. For headlights in times of war are taboo and the motorist must grope his way through the darkness as best he can by the pale flicker of his screened headlights. Some of the English chauffeurs have become adepts in the dark and speed along at twenty to thirty miles an hour, swerving suddenly now and then to avoid a darkened wagon or a motor bound in the opposite direction. To the novice from abroad this running through the blackness of night and the narrow escapes from collision are anything but reassuring.

The outskirts of London may be reached within that first hour of darkness in which the searchlights of the city's aerial defenses play in practice so that they may be skillfully directed against any intruding Zeppelin that of the night.

Sweeping in from the country the spectacle of the searchlight canopy over the city is one never to be forgotten. The blazing white beams shoot from every angle, and some more powerful than the rest appear to be impishly struggling to pry their way into the very mysteries of heaven itself. Great, broad bands of dazzling daylight they flash their way into dark and mystic space. They cross, interlace, turn and sweep with an effort that no pyrotechnic display ever has attained. It is difficult to realize that these marvels have been called into play by the grim business of war, rather than to thrill and mystify in the spectacular brilliance of their display.

By the time the twisting, tortuous streets of the inner city are reached the searchlight trials generally are at an end, and once again comes the slow groping through the gloom.

A day of war time racing is a day of striking contrasts.

FANCY SKATING CHAMP

Billy Carpenter, former Lowell boy, to appear at Rollaway Thursday, Friday and Saturday

Welcome to our city! This undoubtedly will be the greatest skating show ever seen in Lowell. Billy Carpenter, champion skater of the world, who will open a three days' engagement at the Rollaway rink on Burd street Thursday afternoon. Billy is a former Lowell boy, and he started on his successful career in this city just 12 years ago. Since that time he has toured the world. He will celebrate Thanksgiving day by thanking Manager Moore of the rink for looking him, so that he may again visit his Lowell relatives and friends, and incidentally show them what he has accomplished during his absence from the Spindle City.

Carpenter will perform on Thursday afternoon and evening, Friday evening and Saturday afternoon and evening. Each evening Manager Moore will present a $250 gold piece to the person who makes the nearest estimate of the time Billy will spin around in his exhibition spinning stunt. This is one of the many tricks that he will perform. He holds the world's spinning record of 7 minutes. The admission during the exhibition will be ten cents with regular skating afternoon and evening.

LARRY DOYLE RECOVERS

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Larry Doyle, Cub second sacker, sends word from his winter home in Jacksonville, Fla., that he has entirely recovered from his broken ankle and expects to be in fine shape when the Cubs start their 1917 conditioning stunts.

YOUNG ZULU KID AND JIMMY WILDE TO BATTLE
FOR WORLD'S FLYWEIGHT TITLE IN LONDON

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Young Zulu Kid, the New York flyweight, who claims the American title, will meet Jimmy Wilde, the British champion and holder of the world's title at the London Sporting club on Dec. 11. The weight is to be at the flyweight limit, which is 112 pounds at 2 o'clock, and the distance will be twenty rounds. They are to fight for a purse of $5000, which will be divided 60 per cent to the winner and 40 per cent to the loser. All of England is crazy over the bout, and all those interested believe that the bout will draw a larger house than Ritchie and Welsh. Jack Collaghan, the promoter, has put up a special building for the fight, and his seating capacity will be 25,000. He will change what in our money will be $1 to $20. Photo on left shows fighting pose of Wilde; one on right shows Young Zulu Kid.

CLOSE GAMES IN THE
WATERHEAD LEAGUE

In the Les Miserables league last evening the Riversides took four points from the Dodgers. F. Weed was high man with a single of 127 and a total of 314. Three interesting games were also played in the Waterhead league.

The scores:

FOR GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. The next national open championship of the United States Golf association will, in all probability be played over the links of the Whitmarsh Valley Country club near Philadelphia. This is indicated by the action of the executive committee of the Professional Golfers' association, which yesterday selected the Pennsylvania course. The United States Golf association turned over the selection of the three courses to be submitted at the annual meeting to the professional rollers with no qualification necessary other than that the courses belong to clubs that are active members of the association.

While the selection is not final until ratified at the annual meeting of the United States Golf association it is understood that the wishes of the professional golfers will be respected.

After the committee had decided upon holding the championship in the east rather than on a western course the field was narrowed down to Whitmarsh Valley, Brae Burn Country club near Boston, and the Shawnee, located a few miles north of Delaware Water Gap at Shawnee-on-the-Delaware. The final vote stood 4 to 1 in favor of the Whitmarsh club with Brae Burn second and Shawnee third.

SPORTING NEWS

Games in the City Bowling league tonight are: Carr's vs. Newton Mfg. Co., at Boyd's; White Ways vs. Kimballs, at Kittredge's; Boyd's vs. the Highland Daylights, at Highland alleys; Jewels vs. Crescents, at Crescent.

Leo H. Leary, assistant coach of the Harvard football team, will be married this evening to Miss Alice H. McElroy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. McElroy of Providence, R. I.

The coming bout between Jack Dillon and Battling Levinsky is creating as much interest as the bout decided at the Army A. A. Boston, a few weeks ago when Levinsky clearly outclassed his opponent. It seems to be the general feeling that Dillon will this time reverse the decision.

Willie Kyronen, the little Finn who holds the Metropolitan cross country title and who is well known as a runner in this city, added another victory to his long list Sunday in the annual championship run of the Scandinavian American Athletic league. Kyronen traveled over the six mile course in Van Cortlandt park 31 seconds faster than he did when he won the A.A.U. championship eight days ago. He negotiated the distance Sunday in 32 minutes and 39 seconds. Hannes Kolehmainen, who has also raced in this city, was at the starting point but he was barred from competition because he insisted upon representing the Finnish American A. A. Kyronen had 22 competitors and all but three finished.

Albert Nobes, Lowell's roller skater, and Harry Burke, the Bridgeport champ are still writing notes relative to a race to be pulled off here or elsewhere on Dec. 7, 8 and 9. Manager Moore to date has made the best offer for the match, and indications point to him landing it for his Rollaway rink. Both these skaters are among the best at the game and each is anxious to meet the other. The only argument now seems to be how large a side bet will go up. When this "little thing" is settled the two flyers will get to it.

BOWDOIN COLLEGE SCHEDULE
BRUNSWICK, Me., Nov. 28.—The Bowdoin college basketball football schedules for 1917, announced today contain radical changes from those of past years. In the baseball schedule New Hampshire state and Exeter appear after a lapse of years. In the football, Tufts, Holy Cross, Middlebury and Fort McKinley are dropped and in the basketball are substituted Harvard, Trinity and West Point. The day night.

STANDING AND AVERAGES IN WATERHEAD LEAGUE

Team 1 leads the Waterhead Bowling league with no defeats, with Teams 6 and 2 fighting for second place. Fourth place is a tossup with Teams 5, 4 and 3 tie. Team 3 after a bad start is now rounding into form and will cause the leaders some trouble before the season is much older. McElroy of Team 3 leads in the individual averages with 100.7.

| Teams | Won | Lost | Pinfail |
|-------|-----|------|---------|
| 1     | 20  | 0    | 6666    |
| 2     | 11  | 9    | 6624    |
| 3     | 11  | 9    | 6490    |
| 4     | 6   | 14   | 6217    |
| 5     | 6   | 14   | 6107    |
| 6     | 6   | 14   | 6080    |

Individual averages: McElroy 100.7, Shepard 99.11, Ellis 92.9, T. Hartley 92.7, Buchanan 92, Fletcher 91.12, Shatter 91.11, T. Collins 90.10, J. Collins 89.4, Erickson 88.7, Lindquist 88.1, Ecklund 87.2, Barber 86.2, Lane 85.12, Leigh 85.3, Angelo 85.8, England 84.1, Sehlstedt 84, Fuller 83.13, Boyle 83.12, R. Collins 82.12, Ward 82.4, McCarthy 82, Pearson 80, Field 79.11, W. Hartley 79.11, Anderson 78.

schedule is one game shorter than usual. Wesleyan comes to Maine for the first time and Trinity will play in the first round in mid-season instead of having the Portland game at the close of the Maine series.

INDIANS VS. FORT STRONG
The Indian football team, which won the championship from the Orioles last Saturday will play the Fort Strong team Thursday afternoon, Thanksgiving day, at Spalding park. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock. The Fort Strong eleven comes from Winthrop and ranks with the best in the state. It has played a number of formidable teams this season and has set up a fine record. The team was organized several years ago, and last year scored a victory over the Indians in the final game of the season on the old Fair grounds by the score of 7 to 6. That game was one of the most fiercely contested football games ever played in Lowell. Both teams have made several changes in their lineups since that memorable battle, and each is confident of coming out on the long end of the score.

YELLE TO BOX COOGAN
TAUNTON, Nov. 28.—Fred Yelle of Taunton and M. Coogan of New York have been matched for 12 rounds at the Anawan A.A. meeting next Monday night.

CHAS. E. HUGHES TO ENTER HIS OLD LAW FIRM

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Nov. 28.—Charles E. Hughes announced here last night that on January 1st he resumes the practice of law as a member of the New York City law firm of Rounds, Schurman & Dwight, No. 96 Broadway. His son, Charles E. Hughes, Jr., also will enter the firm, it was stated.

In 1905, when Mr. Hughes was nominated for governor of New York, he was a member of the same law firm, but its title at that time was Hughes, Rounds & Schurman. With Mr. Hughes again in the firm, its new name, it was announced, will be Hughes, Rounds, Schurman & Dwight.

Associated with Mr. Hughes and his son will be Arthur C. Rounds, George W. Schurman, Richard E. Dwight, Walter F. Carter, Raymond M. Lowes, Martin J. Keogh, Jr., Augustus L. Richards and Harvey L. Stowell.

TWENTY HURT IN RACE RIOT AT WORCESTER

WORCESTER, Nov. 28.—All the reserve patrolmen in this city had to be called out last night to quell a riot which started when 200 members of the Armenian and Turkish colonies clashed at Summer and Union sts.

For almost an hour the men battled back and forth about the corner, brandishing all manner of weapons. Several shots were fired. When the riot ended 20 persons were under arrest and about as many more under treatment in the central police station and the Worcester hospital.

The trouble started as the result of an attack Sunday night upon an Armenian.

TOO MANY "KIDS" IN CITY COUNCIL

BROCKTON, Nov. 28.—The community is aroused over charges by George W. Alden, president of the Brockton chamber of commerce, that Brockton is electing too many "kids" to the city council and that these "kids" are spending the city's money, although they are inexperienced in business matters. Mr. Alden's charges were made in an address before the Abington board of trade last week.

Members of the council, learning of Mr. Alden's remarks, were much displeased. Mr. Alden, far from retracting his statement, came out stronger than ever and asserted that a young man voting on big appropriation bills did not realize his own incapacity.

Dr. Charles S. Bragdon, a former progressive candidate for mayor, came out yesterday as a champion of the "kids."

THE DEUTSCHLAND CARGO SELLS SLOWLY

BRIDGEPORT, Nov. 28.—America has lost its independence upon Germany for dyestuffs, and half the Deutschland's first consignment still lies unsold in Baltimore warehouses, according to an expert connected with one of the largest dye manufacturing concerns in the country.

With the expiration of some German patents, several months ago, according to this authority, American concerns had free rein in experimenting, and a base produce as good as that for which Americans depended upon Germany is now being sold at $1.50 a pound.

The stuff brought by the Deutschland on its first trip was selling for $4.50 a pound when a market could be obtained.

Gossip among dye makers, says this authority, is that many New York concerns are buying alleged German dyes bearing German lettering and sold as part of the Deutschland's cargo, which never was out of America.

COAL BARGE LOST

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—The loss of barge No. 792 in the coal carrying service of the Lehigh Valley Transportation Co. was reported here today by Capt. McCordick of the tug Lehigh which had the barge in tow and which made a hazardous rescue of the crew. Mrs. Benjamin Gillis, wife of the captain of the barge, was taken aboard the tug from a skiff, after which the Lehigh was maneuvered alongside the foundering barge so that it was possible for the captain and three men to jump onto the tug's deck.

The barge went down off Horton's Point on the Long Island shore during a heavy gale Friday night. She carried a cargo of 800 tons of anthracite coal consigned from Perth Amboy for Portsmouth, N. H.

FEDERAL BOARD'S WARNING

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—It became known today that the federal reserve board, in issuing a warning to American banks regarding an overloading of European short-term notes had been discussed by the board with Secretary Lansing, who advised that the matter could not be regarded as other than a purely domestic one and that the only consideration was the internal needs of the country.

As it was appreciated that that action might be misconstrued the board's announcement was very carefully written to state that "the board disclaims any intention of discussing the financial stability of any nation, but wishes it understood that it seeks to deal only with general principles which affect all alike."

LYNN JUDGE USES OWN CASE AS ARGUMENT

MAN WHO SENTENCED BOY TO HURL 1000 STONES, AGAINST
ELECTIVE JUDICIARIES

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—Judge Lummus of Lynn, who, a few days ago sentenced a youthful promiscuous stone thrower to hurl 1000 stones in order to get the dangerous habit out of his system for all time, yesterday told the senior students of the Boston University Law School, where the judge is a lecturer, that a timely moral in the form of an argument against elective judiciaries resulted from the unusual sentence he imposed upon the youngster.

"While I had no idea at the time," he said, "that there would result so much sensationalism from the sentence, I can't help but use the occasion to combat the arguments in favor of elective judiciaries, which so many people advocate."

He pointed out that if judges were elected by the voters, instead of appointed by the governor for life, judges would be forced to resort to sensationalism in the conduct of trials, just as much as the man who is sent to the state house, who must keep in the good graces of the public and consequently in the public's eye.

SLEEPYTIME TALES

MARY'S PARROT

Once upon a time, Mary was given a parrot by a sea captain friend of her father. Mary didn't know that a parrot could talk and when she heard it the first time she was so frightened that she ran crying to her mother and hid her head in her dress.

"The parrot was a very good bird and never said any naughty words as do many parrots but it could talk a lot and very soon learned to say about all the things that the family talked about. One day, soon after Mary had been given the bird and before she knew it could talk, she was just going to school. She had kissed her mother and said good-by. Suddenly, just as she was going out the door, she heard someone say, "Good-by" in a very shrill voice. It didn't sound like her mother's voice, but she supposed it must be and ran back into the house to see why her mother had called to her again.

She found her mother at the back of the house and her mother said she had not called, so Mary thought she must be mistaken. She started out again, and as she went across the hall she heard again the shrill call. She looked up at the parrot's roost and there was the big bird saying "Good-by" just as plain as though it had been a human being.

After that Mary taught it lots of things to say and they talked together many times. Mary had a brother Jerry and the parrot didn't like him very much for he did not pay much attention to it. So every time Jerry came into the house the parrot would sit on the stairs or on the table and would talk to Jerry as he came in. It would say: "Hey, where you been?" "Home again."

"Talk to me," and many other cute phrases. Then, if Jerry took no notice of him, the parrot would jump down, waddle up to the boy and peck at his shoes and stockings until he answered some of the bird's questions.

The parrot would walk upstairs by fastening its beak to the posts of the banister and pull himself up. In the next step and would waddle all over the house to be sure that he always knew where Mary was and what she was doing.

When Mary would start to sing the parrot would try to sing too, but I don't think you would like his singing for it was more like a quack than a song. Every morning the parrot goes to Mary's door and raps with his beak until Mary wakes and tells him she is getting up and when she eats breakfast the parrot always perches on the back of her chair talking all the time. This is a true story, my dears, and the parrot lives in the big city of Philadelphia.

MASTER PLUMBER RULE INVALID, SAYS COURT

FULL BENCH OF SUPREME COURT
HANDS DOWN IMPORTANT DECISION

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—The full bench of the supreme court today declared invalid a rule promulgated by the state examiners of plumbers and approved by the state board of health, which provided that no person should take an examination for rating as a master plumber until three years after he had received a license as a journeyman plumber. Chief Justice Rugg, who wrote the opinion, stated that it was a grave interference with personal liberty to prohibit a person from doing work with his hands in a lawful and necessary occupation which he was fitted to perform.

The question arose in the case of Eugene G. McCarthy, who was found guilty of a charge of carrying on the business of a master plumber in Northampton, contrary to the statutes. Although declaring the invalidity of the rule restricting master plumber licenses the court overruled the exceptions of McCarthy. It was stated that the invalidity of the rule of the state examiners did not justify the defendant in, carrying on the business of a master plumber without a license, this proper remedy, it was held, would be to bring a petition for mandamus to compel the state examiners to give him a reasonable examination as to his qualifications to be a master plumber.

FEDERAL CONTROL OF FOOD SUPPLY

When congress takes up the great railroad question, it will probably have to deal with another question of equal importance to the people, to wit, the regulation of the food supply of the country. This can be controlled only through the agencies of interstate commerce which the states individually cannot control. The federal government will, therefore, have to deal with this matter in a manner that will protect the people against the evils of monopolies and the operations of speculators by which the food supply of the country is cornered and prices put up to figures that cost the public countless millions of dollars. Every state is careful to guard against evils of this kind originating in the other states but not all are so particular about the character of the organizations they themselves send out to do business all over the country. New Jersey, for example, was at one time dubbed the mother of trusts because she allowed such facilities for their incorporation and imposed so little restriction on their operations. Some of the most outrageous combines for swindling the public were thus set afloat and even fostered by individual states. The other states could not stop them. Neither could the federal government unless some violation of the Sherman anti-trust law could be shown. Thus they were almost unrestrained in their iniquities until the federal trade commission came to take them in hand and quietly advise those that were not conforming to the spirit of the law to get out of business.

But new problems have arisen in the control of the food supply and problems that must be met with radical action if we are to avert a famine. The federal government must control the railroads so as to protect them from harassment by the states. So must it have supervision over the food supply to guard against any attempt to corner it or hold it locked in cold storage plants to await higher prices. The states are wholly powerless to apply a remedy to meet the whole situation. This should be made the duty of some federal body whose powers would be co-ordinate with those of the interstate commerce commission. This is another most momentous question awaiting decision by congress and one on the proper settlement of which depends the reduction of the high cost of living.

Already some states have held investigations of the food problem, but such proceedings apply only to local conditions, while the disease is national. A new light is dawning upon the people in regard to the real causes of many evils and the remedies that suggest themselves as self evident are federal investigation and control.

OUR AMERICAN DYES

It is alleged that American dyes are being produced equal to the German article for textile fabrics. That may or may not be true; but most people will doubt the statement although it apparently comes from a high authority.

Our local textile school has been conducting experiments in producing dye stuffs for textiles and the officials have announced that the results have been very successful, the chief desideratum now being to manufacture the dyes and put them on the market. It is estimated that 50,000,000 pounds of aniline dyes will be made in this country the coming year and that hereafter the United States will lead the world in the production of fabrics and colors. It is to be hoped that the Lowell Textile school, the best institution of its kind in the world, with a first class chemical and dyeing department, will produce something in this line that will make it still more famous and bring added prestige to Lowell as a pioneer in the textile business.

It is said that the American dyes thus far produced for leather do not seem to meet the requirements or to be of much value. German dyes that were selling at 85 cents a pound before the war now bring six dollars a pound. That is part of the reason why the price of shoes is going up, but it is only one of many causes that are too well known.

END OF WAR NOT IN SIGHT

Early this year most people thought the close of the war was in sight, but the present situation seems to put the conclusion further off than ever. If the struggle is to be kept up until the powers on either side be completely crushed, it is not likely to terminate for another year or perhaps for two years.

The entrance of Rumania to the war gave the entente allies a great opportunity to cut the German line of communication with Bulgaria and Turkey; but they did not act quickly enough and hence the German forces are now closing in on Bucharest, the Rumanian capital, and the allies cannot stop them.

There will be as hard fighting in Rumania as has been seen in Galicia or on the western front, before the war can assume any aspect of peace.

There must be a crushing defeat of the allies or else their complete exhaustion before they will consent to consider peace proposals. The revival of the submarine warfare in its worst form and the action of Germany in compelling the citizens of the conquered territory to leave their homes and work in her industries and even in her munition factories, is worse, if possible, than the original crime against Belgium for which the allies entered the war.

There's no success at all without a great bunch of routine.

No matter what you dream there's generally small chance of its coming true.

There are many strange methods now-a-days to induce you to grab salvation.

No man can tell exactly who'll be sitting around his death-bed when the time comes.

Almost anybody is ready to inform you why you should have done the very thing you didn't do.

About the happiest chap in the world probably, is the fellow to whom nobody pays any attention.

The world always calls a young man an "upstart" who does something big that the world didn't expect him to do.

Man in Malden accused of stealing a saw and carrying it four miles to his home said he did it for a joke. The judge fined him $10 for carrying the joke too far.

A Poor Press Agent

Max O'Reil was exceedingly popular as a lecturer, and the way in which his mother viewed the suggestion that her son should take to the platform is worth repetition. She wrote to him from the native village which she had never left for more than a day to say that she did not think appearing before audiences to be reputable business, and when he replied that he had decided to do it and had signed a contract to that effect the dear old lady wrote back that she was "still" his loving mother and that she would tell no one in the village about it.

The Three Lads

Down the road rides a German lad,
Into the distance gray;
Straight toward the north as a bullet flies.
The dusky north, with its cold, sad
skies;
But the song that he sings is merry
and glad.
For he's off to the war and away.
Then hey! for our righteous king!

And the good old God in his good old skies!
And ho! for love and a pair of blue
eyes!
For I'm off to the war and away!

Down the road rides a Russian lad,
Into the distance gray;
Out toward the glare of the steppes
he spurs,
And hears the wolves in the southern first;
But the song that he sings is hithe
and glad,
For he's off to the war and away.
Then hey! for our noble czar! (he cries)
And liberty that never dies!
And ho! for love and a pair of blue
eyes!
For I'm off to the war and away!

Down the road rides an English lad,
Into the distance gray;
Through the mark and fog of the river's breath,
Through the dark, dark night he rides
to his death;
But the song that he sings is gay and glad,
For he's off to the war and away.
Then hey! for truth, and down with the lie!
And ho! for love and a pair of blue
eyes!
For I'm off to the war and away!"

Lowell Lady Had Immediate Relief

Miss Eva Perrault, of 40 Graham St., Surprised at the Results From Plant Juice

The benefits of good health are obvious to all. The value of a "sound mind in a sound body" needs no interpretation to people of education and understanding. It is only necessary to know how this healthy condition may be obtained and preserved. No extravagant claims are made for Plant Juice, the new herbal stomach remedy, now being introduced here, but that it will restore your system to a state of perfect health, if suffering from stomach trouble, kidney trouble or rheumatism, is backed up by the statements of well known local people in signed testimonials, who have used this preparation and are now loud in praise thereof.

Take for instance, the signed statement of Miss Eva Perrault, of No. 40 Graham Street, who has lived in this city all of her life and has hosts of friends. She said:

"For two years I have been troubled with catarrh of the head and stomach; it seemed as if my head would fall off at times. I was so bad, and the phlegm would drop down my throat, causing me to be very sick of my stomach, and so dizzy, I could hardly stand on my feet. I was so nervous I could not sleep. At night I would faint away from weakness. I had tried many medicines, but none of them did me any good, until I began to use Plant Juice. The first dose seemed to give me some relief and now since I have taken it for several weeks, I am feeling the best I have in years. I am surprised at the wonderful result I have had from Plant Juice and am glad to recommend it to others."

There are numerous symptoms of this trouble that Plant Juice can relieve. In fact, any one of the following may denote affections of the stomach: indigestion, dyspepsia, belching of wind, bad breath, sick throbbing headaches, poor circulation, night sweats, that tired feeling, constipation, a coated tongue or poor complexion.

The Plant Juice Man is at Daws, the Druggist in Merrimack Square, where he is daily meeting the local public, and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

FAMILY DOCTOR'S GOOD ADVICE

To Go On Taking "Fruit-a-lives" Because They Did Her Good

Rochester, Jan. 14th, 1915.

"I suffered for many years with terrible indigestion and constipation. I had frequent dizzy spells and became greatly run down. A neighbor advised me to try 'Fruit-a-lives'. I did so and to the surprise of my doctor, I began to improve, and he advised me to go on with 'Fruit-a-lives'."

I consider that I owe my life to 'Fruit-a-lives' and I want to say to those who suffer from Indigestion, Constipation or Headaches—try Fruit-a-lives and you will get well! CORINE GAUDREAU. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. A full dealer or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ogdensburg, N.Y.

a number of our "schoolmarm" were bidden on a "get something for nothing" scheme recently. There was a nice advertisement of an easy way to get a fine petticoat, so word was passed from one teacher to another. All you had to do was to send the names of several other persons and the sum of 10 cents to the company and they would return you about the best undershirt you ever saw. Well, a number of our teachers fulfilled these requirements, so 'tis stated, but Uncle Sam was busy in the meantime and the head of the concern was placed under arrest for an attempt to defraud through the mails. And the teachers are bewailing their misfortune.—Middleboro Gazette.

Escaped Sentence

Police court spectators that morning included one who was there for the first time, a woman past 60, unfamiliar with the machinery of the law, court officials or criminal types.

Visualize the scene. The judge sat on high, a step lower was the clerk and within the enclosure defined by stout oak barriers were lawyers. In the rear, spectators' seats; at the right "the dock," with uniformed policemen sprinkled about; at the left a row of seats for witnesses, with more policemen.

Two attorneys arise, C. Harold Porter and A. L. Rich. No hand bars their paths as they leave the court room.

The woman follows. In the corridor she accosted the lawyers.

"I'm so glad they let you go," she assured them. "It's my first visit to a court. I was curious to see what kind of people are arrested and sentenced and I was so surprised to see so many well-dressed and nice looking men inside the railing where they keep the prisoners. How did they happen to let you go?"

"Because we are merely lawyers," they told her.—Brookline Daily Enterprise.

THANKSGIVING MESSAGE BY GOV. STRONG

Special to The Sun

STATE HOUSE, BOSTON, Nov. 28.—Now that Thanksgiving is drawing near, it might be well for us to look back and see how our Massachusetts governor, whose administration came during the time of war, felt towards the contending nations, and to see if we should not pray and be thankful for the same things for which he was wishing.

Following is a portion of Gov. Caleb Strong's Thanksgiving message to the people of this state in the year 1814, when Dec. 1 was set apart for a day of thanksgiving and praise.

"But while we thankfully celebrate the goodness of God to ourselves and others, it becomes us with deep contrition to humble ourselves before Him for our multiplied transgressions and the tokens of His righteous anger in still afflicting us with the calamities of a distressing war, which threatens to impoverish our country and by which the lives and many of our fellow citizens have been destroyed, and numerous widows and fatherless children have been made miserable; and to beseech Him that He would prevent the judgments that threaten us and purify us from our sins. We have been the cause of His heavy displeasure against us; that He would make us understand wherein we have erred and not to suffer us to walk in the way of injustice and inequity until it terminates in ruin. That He would put an end to the miseries of the present war and in the meantime defend our exposed towns from destructive ravages and guard the lives and property of our citizens; that with deep humility we may accept the punishment of our iniquities and patiently bear His indignation because we have sinned against Him; and that by the gloomy prospect before us we may be led to place our ineffectual reliance on Him who rules in the Kingdom of men and whose favor and protection are the only sure means of our safety. That the rulers of both the contending nations may be disposed to cherish friendly sentiments and establish peace upon just and equitable terms."

SLEEPYTIME TALES

THE GNOMES' NUT BOATS

Once upon a time, you remember the Gnomes used the dog's drinking pan for a skating rink and then for a coasting place. They went up to Rollo's house one day to slide and found that the warm sun had melted all the ice and snow and there was nothing but water in the pan. "We must make some use of it now that we are here," said Tiny Tim, and he told you what we will do. "We will go boating."

"What shall we use for boats?" asked another Gnome. "I'll see what I can find," said Tiny Tim and off he started. He went up to the big house and in the garbage pail he found a big pile of the shells of English walnuts. "These will do fine," he said to himself and ran to get the others to help him carry some of them to the pond. It took four Gnomes to carry one shell but, as they all worked with a will, they soon had a fleet of five boats launched into the pond. Little Tim was used for paddles and soon they learned to manage the boats just like real sailors.

They had some races, all starting at one side of the dish and rowing fast and furious to see who should reach the other side first. Tiny Tim was so small that, although he had the lightest shell for his boat, he couldn't seem to win a race. He thought and thought of some way that he could beat the others and finally he got out of his boat and ran to Rollo's house where he found a tiny piece of cloth that he could use as a sail. He took two long straws fastened the sail to them on each side and then, by standing up in his boat, could hold up the sail.

The others didn't know what he was up to until he started in a race, and then, while they were rowing hard to get ahead of him, he did not have to work at all, but just stood still and held the sail which carried him swiftly across the pond and across the line a winner. Before the others had reached the middle of the pond.

When the other Gnomes saw what a success Tiny Tim's sail was, of course they all wanted one and there was a lot of tearing of cloth and finding of straws in Rollo's house, so that it took the big dog out of his afternoon's nap and made him quite cross for a minute, until the Gnomes told him what they were doing. Soon the pond was covered with the little sail boats and the Gnomes had the very best time they had had all winter.

BEST FOR LIVER, BOWELS, STOMACH, HEADACHE, COLDS

They live the liver and bowels and straighten you right up.

Don't be bilious, constipated, sick, with breath bad and stomach sour.

Tonight sure! Take Cascarets and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. Wake up with your head clear, stomach sweet, breath right and feeling fine. Get rid of sick headache, biliousness, constipation, clogged tongue, sour stomach, bad colds. Clear your skin, brighten your eyes, quicken your step and feel like doing a full day's work. Cascarets are better than salts, pills or cathartics because they don't shock the liver or gripe the bowels or cause inconvenience all the next day.

Mothers should give cross, sick, bilious, feverish children a whole Cascaret anytime as they can not injure the tiny feet of tender bowels.

That the deer at Fort Hill park will imitate the cave men during the winter months.

That the firemen's concert and ball at the armory Wednesday evening will be worth while.

That the way to get square with the speculators is to cut out turkey on Thanksgiving day.

That John F. Golden says St. Patrick's alumni banquet in December will be the best ever.

That the boys from the border will introduce some Mexican dances at their coming party.

That the firemen have been kept busy extinguishing grass fires during the past several days.

That the number of turkeys sold this Thanksgiving will be much smaller than in previous years.

That County Commissioner Barlow was one of the few lucky men to get a deer during the open season.

That everyone should be particularly careful not to start a fire during the firemen's ball tomorrow evening.

That sometimes the 15 cent dinner is more nourishing and less distressing than that for which you pay 50 cents.

That even though there are a score of bowling alleys in Lowell all seem to be very well patronized, especially at night.

That the cold weather is responsible in no small measure for the increased attendances at the local moving picture houses.

That it's pretty tough to read of millions of pounds of meat being shipped to Europe while the price still continues to soar at home.

LIVING ON FORTY CENTS A DAY AGREES WITH CHICAGO DIET SQUAD

DR. ROBERTSON INSTRUCTING MEMBERS OF DIET SQUAD

The "diet squad" of Chicago, conducted by Health Commissioner Robertson, after four days of living on a menu limited to 40 cents a day, was weighed and showed an average gain of five pounds.

Six of the twelve showed gains in weight despite the restricted diet. Two were unchanged, while the losses, except in the case of Dr. A. J. Stokes, the heavyweight of the squad, all were under one pound each. Dr. Stokes, who weighed 233½ pounds before undertaking the experiment, has lost 2½ pounds. The greatest gain was by Berghild Halvorsen, who began with 138½ pounds and has acquired 2½ pounds additional flesh. The squad's big meal of the week consisted of unlimited quantities of julienne soup, roast pork, glazed sweet potatoes, celery, pumpkin pie.

"That meal tasted as if it cost $40 instead of less than 40 cents," exclaimed Henry Gehring, Jr., one of the squad, as he pushed back his chair at the conclusion of the meal and loosened his belt. Picture shows Dr. Robertson addressing members of the squad.

WHAT HORTENSE TOLD ME

The amount of food required for almost sure to have large pores, as the woman who would be beautiful, left open they will spread and fill up and become permanently large. Cold water will help to close them and so will an astringent. Benzoin is an astringent and I would advise you to use ten cents worth of tincture of benzoin and every time you wash your face with hot water, finish up with cold water into which you have poured a few drops of benzoin.

For those who wish to reduce, Hortense advises that you take every opportunity to walk when you can. If it is a matter of several blocks, do not take a car even when it is possible. Take every opportunity to walk, but walk as if you enjoyed it. Put some energy into this exercise. Really make it an exercise. Do not eat more than one starch food at a meal, drink plenty of water, but between meals, and, above all, eat enough to allow hunger. But stop before you get too hungry. If you are never going to eat another meal instead of one quite as heavy in another four or five hours.

There is nothing so fatal to beauty as sleepless nights, Hortense made me, when I was so troubled, give up tea and coffee entirely. Water and milk must form the drink from now on, she said. If possible, all mental work must be laid aside for a few hours before going to bed. Do not have any amusement that will excite

Duffy's Improved His Appetite and Increased Weight

MR. MAX SIMONS

A tablespoonful of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey in water or milk taken before meals and on retiring is an excellent means of improving digestion and assimilation as evidenced by the following:

"When I started to take your wonderful Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey I weighed 145 pounds. In less than a year I weighed 165½ pounds."

"I take one tablespoonful in water three times a day and two tablespoonfuls in a glass of milk at bed time. My wife also uses it at bed time, in milk. It is better than medicine. It gives me an appetite and strength. I can do as much work in two days as my workman does in three days. I use one bottle of Duffy's Malt every week, because it is the purest and best I can buy."—Max Simons, 2619 E. Clearfield St., Philadelphia, Pa.

GIRLS! TRY IT! HAVE THICK, WAVY, BEAUTIFUL HAIR

Every particle of dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Draw a moist cloth through hair and double its beauty at once.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see your hair growing and downy at first—yes—really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any druggist or toilet counter, and just try it.

Save your hair. Beautify it! You will say this was the best 25 cents you ever spent.

the nerves. The things that you can do to induce sleep are many. Take plenty of brisk exercise in the open air. Before retiring take a hot foot bath. This will draw the blood away from the brain, which is a necessary condition for sleep. A cold douche on the spine is another method that you can give with a bath spray. Several baths should be warm. Sleeping rooms should be well ventilated and cool. Do not eat immediately before retiring. A glass of warm milk will overcome insomnia after other suggestions have failed.

Many women, says Hortense, particularly those who do their own work, find it hard to keep their hands soft and white. Be sure to remove all stains of fruits, paints, and so on, as soon as you can. Take a little time each night to clean and soften the skin. Any good cold cream will do this. Hortense gives the following recipe: Put into a bottle 2 ounces of glycerine, 3 ounces of water, 4 table-spoons lemon juice and a few drops of carbolic acid. Shake well. After washing and drying the hands, rub a little of the mixture into them.

Hortense says if you have blackheads the green soap preparation should be applied every other night. Rub it on gently with a sponge or absorbent cotton and let it remain on for about three minutes, then bathe the face with hot water, dry and use the toilet water. The alternate use of the cleansing cream to cleanse the face, and the toilet water in the morning. If this does not empty the pores then after using the green soap and hot water you can press out the contents with a little instrument that comes for that purpose. Never squeeze them out with the fingers. This method will gradually reduce the pores. For blackheads use green soap (imported), 1 oz.; water, 3 ozs. For the cleansing cream use almond oil, 4 ozs.; white wax, 1 oz.; white vaseline, 1 oz.; oil of violets, 5 drops. For the toilet water use elder-flower water, 2 ozs.; distilled water, 2 ozs.

Merriment causes a frequent movement of the eyelids up and down, and it is the function of the eyelid to release a tear each time it comes down. The eyelid has the effect of covering the eye with considerable moisture. The light shining on this moisture gives the sparkling effect. The eyes should be washed, says Hortense, after a dusty journey for they get dirty just as the rest of the face does. An eye cup is required for this. Once having learned to use it, you will never again neglect this part of your toilet.

For a red, rough face, do not use soap or water on the face. Cleanse the face at night with a cleansing cream. In the morning wash with cold water. Dampen a corner of a towel and wipe the face then use a good face powder. Massage the hands and arms to improve the circulation and your hands will be warmer. At night bathe the hands in tepid water, then rub them with witch hazel and glycerine. Use a little of the red spots and one ounce of glycerine. Always dry the hands thoroughly. For red spots on the face before retiring apply the cleansing cream all over the face and throat with the tips of the fingers, then wipe it off at once with a soft towel. Then bathe the face with hot water, dry the face and apply the lotion, leave on over night. In the morning use cleansing cream, then a good face powder.

Massaging the scalp is all wrong, so thinks Hortense, and combs should never be run through the hair. The hair should be washed with cold water, then the tonic dropped on the scalp and the head gently pressed with the finger tips until the liquid has been absorbed. Before applying a tonic the hair should be carefully combed. After the hair is quite dry again comb any possible tangles, then part the hair and brush loosely, twice at the ends so it will remain braided during the night, thus avoiding unnecessary tangles in the morning. A wide toothed comb is best and a soft brush when one must be used to smooth the hair. The softer the texture of the hair the more gently it should be handled. A comb run over the scalp in the ordinary night and morning combing is all the friction any healthy scalp will ever require.

Biting the fingernails is far too common a fault among nervous women, says Hortense. The constant wetting with the saliva so weakens and softens the nail that it is not strong enough to grow properly. Sometimes even crumpling up. The quickest cure is to paint the end of each finger with liquid guaiacum. It will be harmless to the finger. With this liquid guaiacum on the nails every day it will not be more than a few weeks before the inclination to bite them will disappear.

Salt is a simple but infallible remedy for constipation. It should be taken, a half teaspoon in a cup of boiling water, half an hour before each meal. Practice the following exercises for ten minutes every day, so that your abdominal muscles will be toned up and invigorated to do their part against tolerating such a condition again. Sit upright in a straight-backed chair with knees together. Turn the trunk to the left and bend

SEQUEL TO JOY RIDE HEARD IN POLICE COURT

Four young men who do not bear the best reputation, but who are sons of respectable people, were arraigned before Judge Enright in police court this morning on a complaint charging them with the larceny of an automobile belonging to Charles L. Crowley, from his garage in Gorham street on the morning of the 9th of November. Each entered a plea of guilty and they were given suspended sentences to the Massachusetts reformatory on condition they reimburse

Mr. Crowley to the extent of $81 for damages done to the machine. According to the testimony offered by Sergt. David Pettie the four young men entered the garage about two o'clock in the morning, took the machine out and started along the Boston road towards Billerica. Before leaving Billerica they met with an accident and abandoned the machine. Owing to the fact that Mr. Crowley did not care about pressing the matter, if they would make good his loss, each was given a suspended sentence to the reformatory.

He Got Off Easy

Anthony W. Mead while under the influence of liquor yesterday entered the liquor saloon of James J. Droney in Broadway and smashed several panes of glass. He was arrested and taken to the police station where he was booked for drunkenness and breaking glass. Inasmuch as the man has a wife and five children Dr. Droney said he would not appear against him, stating that he would stand the cost of $12 the cost of repairing the window. The case was placed on file on condition that Mead would pay the $12 to Mr. Droney when he could do so without depriving his family of any of the necessities of life.

Non-Support of Children
John Mahoney was found guilty of failing to provide for the support of his minor child and was ordered to pay $2.50 a week towards its support.

John J. McMahon was found guilty of the non-support of his minor child and was sentenced to four months in the house of correction. He appealed and was held under $500 for the superior court.

Placed on File

Charles A. and John J. Angier entered pleas of guilty to complaints charging them with having watered milk in their possession. At the request of Frederick L. Marion of the state board of health, the cases were placed on file.

Neglected His Wife

Frederick A. Gordon charged with neglecting his wife was given a suspended sentence of five months in the house of correction on condition that he give his wife $6 a week.

Other Offenders

John J. Spellacy who was arrested on a capias for the non-payment of a fine of $15, was ordered to pay the fine or go to jail.

Loring Elliott who was released yesterday morning was in again today. Fifteen days in jail.

HUNTERS KILL 832 DEER IN BAY STATE

Incomplete returns from Massachusetts hunters show that 832 deer were killed during the open season last week, as against 1105 in the corresponding period of 1915.

The fish and game commission expects to receive reports of additional killings, but no great increase in the year's figure is anticipated. Of the animals killed this year, 535 were bucks and 297 were does.

The record by deer for last week is as follows: Monday, 191 bucks, 83 does; Tuesday, 106 bucks and 70 does; Wednesday, 93 bucks, 45 does; Thursday, 64 bucks, 34 does; Friday, 50 bucks, 42 does; Saturday, 31 bucks, 14 does.

A number of Lowell men were successful in their quest for deer. Sergt. Samuel Bicklow of the police department and Ralph Spinney of this city, together with Benjamin H. Joslin of South Lyndeboro, N. H., comprised a party of five which has just returned from a hunt in the vicinity of Pittsburg, N. H., near the Canadian line. Five deer were secured by the party, two by each of the Lowell men. County Commissioner Barlow also annexed a deer somewhere within the confines of the state; a 240-pound buck was shot in Tyngsboro and another weighing 153 pounds, dressed, was bagged at Johnson's corner on the Nashua line.

WARNS BANKS AGAINST LOANS TO THE ALLIES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—American bankers were warned by the federal reserve board yesterday to avoid locking up their funds by purchasing treasury bills of foreign governments involving long term obligations. While specifically disclaiming "any intention of reflecting upon the financial stability of any nation," the board advised all investors to proceed with caution, and formally announced to member banks of the federal reserve system that, with the liquid funds which should be available to American merchants, manufacturers and farmers, in danger of being absorbed for other purposes, it does not regard it in the interests of the country at this time that they invest in foreign treasury bills of this character.

Answer to Morgan's proposal

The statement is regarded in official circles as one of the most important declarations by the board since its creation. Officials would not discuss the question for publication, but some of them informally interpreted the warning as the reserve board's answer to the recent proposal of J. P. Morgan & Co., British fiscal agents in this country, to have American bankers accept British treasury bills of an indefinite total issue, secured by gold reserves held in Ottawa. Such loans would be for 90 days, with the privilege of renewal for five other 90-day periods.

When Gold becomes a Menace

H. P. Davison of the Morgan firm was in Washington recently and conferred with President Wilson and some members of the reserve board. It was said later that he sought to have banks of the reserve system authorized to buy British treasury bills as if they were bills of exchange to cover commercial transactions.

Danger from further importation of large amounts of gold, the board says in its statement, will arise only in case the gold is permitted to become the basis of undesirable loan expansions and of inflation. Emphasis is laid upon the necessity of caution in putting money into investments which are short term in name, but which "either by contract or through force of circumstances may in the aggregate have to be renewed until normal conditions return."

Text of Board's Warning

The board's warning, in the form of a statement to be published later in the Federal Reserve Bulletin, follows:

"In view of contradictory reports which have appeared in the press regarding its attitude toward the purchasing by banks in this country of treasury bills of foreign governments, the board deems it a duty to define its position clearly. In making this statement the board desires to disclaim any intention of discussing the finances or of reflecting upon the financial stability of any nation, but wishes it understood that it seeks to deal only with general principles which affect all alike.

"The board does not share the view frequently expressed of late, that further importations of large amounts of gold must of necessity prove a source of danger or disturbance to this country. That danger, the board believes, will arise only in case the inflowing gold should remain uncontrolled and be permitted to become the basis of undesirable loan expansions and of inflation."

There are means, however, of controlling accretions of gold by proper and voluntary co-operation of the banks or, if needs be, by legislative enactment.

An important step in this direction would be the anticipation of the final liquidation of reserves contemplated by the federal reserve act to become effective on Nov. 15, 1917. This date could be advanced to February or March, 1917.

Should Keep Themselves Liquid

"In these circumstances, the board feels that member banks should pursue a policy of keeping themselves liquid; of not loaning down to the legal limit, but of maintaining an excess of reserves—not with Federal agents, where their balances are loaned out and constitute no actual reserve, but in their own vaults or preferably with their federal reserve banks. The board believes that at this time banks should proceed with much caution in locking up their funds in long-term obligations or investments which are short-term in form or name, but which, either by contract or through force of circumstances, may in the aggregate have to be renewed until normal conditions return.

"The board does not undertake to forecast probabilities, or to specify circumstances which may become important factors in determining future conditions. Its concern and responsibility lies primarily with the banking situation. If, however, our banking institutions have to intervene because foreign securities are offered faster than they can be absorbed by investors—that is, if their depositors—an element would be introduced into the situation which, if not kept under control, would tend toward instability and ultimate injury to the economic development of this country.

Would Absorb Liquid Funds

"While the loans may be short in form and severally may be collected at maturity, the object of the borrower must be to attempt to renew them collectively, with the result that the aggregate amount placed here will remain until such time as it may be advantageously converted into a long term obligation. It would, therefore, seem as a consequence that liquid funds of our banks, which should be available for short credit facilities to our merchants, manufacturers and farmers, would be exposed to the danger of being absorbed for other purposes to a disproportionate degree, especially in view of the fact that many of our banks and trust companies are already carrying substantial amounts of foreign obligations, and of acceptance which they are under agreement to renew.

Plain Warning to Banks

"The board deems it, therefore, its duty to caution the member banks that it does not regard it in the interests of the country at this time that they invest in foreign treasury bills of this character.

"The United States has now attained a position of wealth and of international financial power, which, in the natural course of events, it could not have reached in a generation. We must be careful not to impair this position of strength and independence.

While it is true that a slowing down in the process of credit extension may mean some curtailment of our abnormally stimulated export trade to certain countries, we need not fear that our business will fall off precipitately should we become more constructive in the matter of investing in loans, because there are still hundreds of millions of our own and foreign securities which our investors would be glad to take over, and moreover, trade can be stimulated in other directions.

America's First Doctrine

"In the opinion of the board, it is the duty of our banks to remain liquid in order that they may be able to continue to respond to our home requirements, the nature and scope of which none can foresee, and in order that our present economic and financial strength may be maintained when at the end of the war, we shall wish to do our full share in the work of international reconstruction and development which will then lie ahead of us, and when a clearer understanding of economic conditions they will then exist, will enable this country more safely and intelligently to do its proper part in the financial rehabilitation of the world."

TO SOAR OVER NORTH POLE IN AIRSHIPS

AMBITION OF ROALD AMUNDSEN, THE NORWEGIAN EXPLORER, NOW IN AMERICA

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—To soar over the North Pole in a hydro-aeroplane is the ambition of Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian explorer, who a few years ago attained the South Pole. Captain Amundsen arrived here yesterday from Copenhagen to purchase two hydro-aeroplanes for that purpose. Starting in the summer of 1918, he said, he expects to be in the far north from three to five years. The main object of his flight, Captain Amundsen declared, would be to study the air currents around the pole.

"I shall follow the coast of Siberia until the ice breaks up, and then drift toward the pole," said Captain Amundsen. "The flow should take us to a point somewhere between Spitzbergen and Greenland, after we have made an almost complete circle of the top of the globe. I hope to be within two miles, or 150 at the farthest, when I leave the ship. Then will follow the dash by hydro-aeroplane or sledge."

"I care nothing for the mere accomplishment of reaching the North Pole. That feat already has been achieved, and it has resulted in little or no practical good to anybody. But if, having reached the northernmost regions, I can soar in a hydro-aeroplane I purpose to make a study of air currents high above the pole.

"At the same time, my party will take observations of the currents far below the surface of the water in the Arctic basin. Thus a comparison of the currents, high and low, will be possible, and this, I believe, will be of value to science."

BRYAN DENIES THAT HE IS OUT OF POLITICS

CALLS PRESENT GOVERNMENT THE NEAREST PERFECT IN WORLD TODAY—SPOKE AT WORCESTER

WORCESTER, Nov. 28.—William Jennings Bryan intends to remain active in politics for many years to come. Speaking here last night in the Hotel Bancroft at the 18th annual dinner of the Worcester Economic club, he indignantly denied the truth of reports that he was to retire from politics.

"I have no thought of retiring," he said. "I want at least 20 more years of active politics. For I am still a young man and rejoice in my youth and expectancy. And, after all, what is there for a democrat to live for if he cannot expect in expectancy?"

The subject of Mr. Bryan's address was "Fundamentals." He discussed man's relation to government, to society and to God.

This government, Mr. Bryan declared, was the nearest perfect in the world today and of questioning the patriotism of our citizens, such a thing was absurd, he said.

MR. PATTEN RESIGNS

Chairman of Tewksbury School Board Is Too Busy to Attend to School Matters

William A. Patten, chairman of the Tewksbury school board for the past eight years, has resigned his position. When questioned by a Sun reporter in regard to his resignation, Mr. Patten stated he has held the position for the past eight years and he thinks that is sufficient. One of his main reasons for resigning is that he is kept very busy at the greenhouse and cannot devote the necessary time to the school department. Mr. Patten was to serve another year, but the resignation was accepted by the school board, and will take effect at the annual town meeting the voters will be requested to ballot for a member of the board for the remainder of Mr. Patten's term.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

There was a large attendance at the regular meeting of Division 8, A.O.U.F., last night. E. J. Flannery presided and at the regular business session 42 applications for membership were received. There is a keen rivalry among the members for the $35 in gold offered in prizes in the membership contest. At the next meeting of the division the election of officers will take place. All members are requested to meet in A.O.U.F. hall Thanksgiving evening at 8 o'clock. They will then march in a body to the Sacred Heart church to attend the sponsored march for the repose of the souls of the Irish martyrs.

Evening Star Rebekah Lodge

Evening Star Rebekah Lodge, 30, 1000 E. celebrated its 40th anniversary Saturday evening at the Odd Fellows Temple in Middlesex street. Charles J. Lyons, president, presided. C. W. Lawrence was present. An excellent buffet luncheon was a feature of the evening. This was in charge of Mrs. Ida B. Buchanan, M. and Mrs. Charles C. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Mark H. Sawyer and Mrs. Minnie E. Shepard. They were assisted by Mrs. Nancy A. Walker, Mrs. Lizzie B. Adams and Mrs. Nannie E. Phelps.

Loyal Integrity Lodge

The regular meeting of Loyal Integrity lodge, I.O.O.F., M.U., was held last night. Noble Grand Harold Merrill presiding. One member was elected and three propositions for membership were received. Resolutions upon the death of Frank E. Laprise, vice grand of Loyal Integrity lodge, written by the committee, were read and accepted by the lodge. The sacred degree was conferred upon two brothers and the purple degree was conferred upon one brother. The officers for the degrees were P. G. George Chase, P. G. James MacArdle, and P. G. Lee McKenzic.

Ladd and Whitney Circle 8

Ladd and Whitney circle 8, Ladies of the G.A.R., held a well attended meeting in Post 185 hall last Wednesday evening. The president in the chair. An excellent supper preceded the meeting, in charge of Sisters Clark and Blaisdell. Regular business was transacted. It is hoped that all members will be present at the next meeting, on the second Wednesday in December, as the officers will be elected for the ensuing year.

WILL HEAR BILLY SUNDAY

Rev. Benjamin R. Harris of the Congregational church, has made arrangements with the Lowell Y.M.C.A. for 70 reservations for the Lowell day visit to hear Billy Sunday in Boston on Saturday, Dec. 16. The tickets will be distributed to 49 men and 20 women next Sunday.

HEADLESS BODY OF MAN FOUND IN WOOD LOT

The headless body of an unknown man was discovered in a wood lot between the Groton and Dunstable roads in North Chelmsford yesterday afternoon by Selectman D. Frank Stuart. It had been noticed by people who had passed by the Chelmsford road on the Groton road that they had seen two dogs playing with a human skull. Mr. Stuart went to the scene and after a careful search found the headless body. At first it was thought that foul play might have been committed but it is the general opinion that the dogs separated the skull from the remainder of the body.

Medical Examiner J. V. Meigs was notified and after viewing the body it was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertaker George W. Henley in branch street, this city.

In the man's clothing were found a laundry check, a package of collars and a railroad ticket. The latter was so worn, however, that it was impossible to tell from what office it was issued.

It is possible that identification may be made through the laundry check which was issued by Mussey's laundry on Sept. 14, this year, to a man named Horne who at that time lived in Chelmsford street near the corner of Westford street. Horne was well known to the laundry officials and has not been seen of late. He wore an unusually large collar and those found in the clothing of the dead man were size 18.

When the matter was reported to the local police the latter started out to attempt to identify the body. It was learned that some time ago there was a Mr. and Mrs. Horne employed by Mrs. Lizzie Lake at her boarding house, 33 Chelmsford street, but they left that place some time ago and Mrs. Lake knew nothing of their whereabouts.

Early this morning, after continued investigation, the police had learned that Horne often frequented the second-hand furniture store of A. S. Edwards, 101 Main street, and the police that at the time he last had seen Horne, the man's wife had separated from him and was living in Nashua, N. H. It is thought that the man's given name was William.

Will see you at the firemen's concert and ball at the armory tomorrow evening.

A CHEMICAL BANQUET

Seventy-five men, most of whom reside in Tewksbury, enjoyed a banquet in the Richardson hotel last evening at the expense of the attorney for the Avery Chemical Co., who was not present. The banquet was held under the direction of Melvin G. Rogers, Tewksbury counsel, who following a recent town meeting in Tewksbury, had a $200 wager with the Avery man that a certain foreign made apparatus could be produced for detecting the fumes of escaping sulphurous gas, which at that time was causing considerable trouble in the town. Mr. Rogers won the wager and decided to "show" his friends to a banquet.

During the dinner music was furnished by Hubbard's orchestra and there were selections by a cabaret singer. Besides Mr. Rogers, who presided, the speakers were Henry M. Bulfinch, Eugene N. Patterson, Lawrence Cummings, George F. Lynch, Dr. Herbert M. Larrabee, Harry L. Shedd, Samuel S. Arthur, W. G. Coburn, John J. Aycock, Maurice R. Fuller and Lewis E. Macbrayne.

Remember the Lowell firemen's concert and ball at the state armory tomorrow evening.

NURSES BATTLE WITH GRASS FIRE

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—Nurses and physicians at the Cushing hospital in Parker Hill avenue, Roxbury, assisted by men and women of the neighborhood, seized brooms and sticks yesterday afternoon when a grass fire threatened the building and battled valiantly in an effort to beat out the flames. Several were partly overcome by smoke.

An hour's work was required before the volunteer fire fighters could claim the victory. Meanwhile, some of the 50 patients in the building who could see the smoke became alarmed, but the nurses who remained in the building quieted them by assuring them that there was no danger.

The fire was discovered by Christopher Hingworth, the janitor, who informed the superintendent, Dr. Grace Bashford, and then sounded an alarm. The flames were fanned by a high wind and the fire spread rapidly. He came to the Cushing Street church seven years ago and his pastorate has been a very successful one.

About eight acres of land were burned over.

PASTOR RESIGNS

Rev. Benjamin R. Harris Gives Up His Pastorate at Paige St. Church Because of Ill Health

Rev. Benjamin R. Harris of the Paige Street Baptist church surprised his congregation Sunday morning by announcing his resignation. He gave ill health as the cause for his decision and although his people knew he had been in poor health for some time they did not know he had determined to tender his resignation and it came as a great surprise to them. No action on his resignation has yet been taken by the church officials. He came to the Paige Street church seven years ago and his pastorate has been a very successful one.

PROF. HERTZOG PRAISES THIS PERFECT LAXATIVE

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin
an Ideal Remedy for Constipation.

In every family there is more or less occasion for a laxative remedy. It is to meet this need that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is prepared, and that this combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin fulfills its purpose as proven by its place in thousands of American homes.

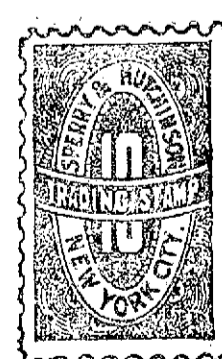

Prof. F. J. C. Hertzog, the well known linguist, 2541 North Ariana St., Philadelphia, Pa., wrote to Dr. Caldwell that he has used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in his household with excellent results and that he and his family consider it indeed a friend in need, and always keep a bottle of it on hand.

Constipation is the direct cause of much sickness and is a condition that should never be neglected. Harsh cathartics and violent purgatives should never be employed to relieve constipation, because the very violence of their action shocks the entire system. A mild laxative, such as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is the preferable, being mild and gentle in its action, without griping or other pain or discomfort; its freedom from all opiate or narcotic drugs makes it an ideal remedy for children.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold in drug stores everywhere for fifty cents a bottle. To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes be sure to get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. See that a facsimile of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on the yellow carton in which the bottle is packed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. R. Caldwell, 455 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

Conditions in Lowell were quite favorable a quarter of a century ago. Thanksgiving time, judging from the optimistic tone of the old Sun's editorial on the holiday, still for the purpose of comparison. Still for the purpose of comparison, I quote a part of it, after stating that atmospheric conditions were like a day in the month of June. The editor said:

"The city, however, is free from sickness and at no time have the people been more generally employed. Of late our industries are assuming a more varied character and the consequence is, that hundreds of men who could not or would not work in the mills are finding employment suitable to their tastes and capacities. There is a total absence of anything like labor troubles and the relations between capital and labor are unusually growing more harmonious. The wages are not very high, but on the other hand the cost of living is not as high here as in other places not far distant, so that the laboring classes in general and the mill operatives in particular can save more of their earnings in this city than they could in other places, even with much higher wages."

"It is gratifying to think that in this city there is nothing like what is known as the 'sweating system,' in which poor seamstresses toil almost continually for starvation wages; nothing like the degradation imposed upon smart, intelligent girls in Boston where the remuneration they receive is not sufficient for their support and where they will be refused employment unless they have some personal friend on whom they can rely for assistance. This applies to some of the leading establishments in Boston, where well educated and intelligent work for $4.50 per week. For this they must dress well, they must board in a respectable place, hire a good room, if they do not live with friends, and if they cannot do all this they are not wanted. It is not uncommon when a lady seeks employment in one of these establishments for the proprietor or his representative to ask her if she has any gentleman friend who will assist her. The people of Lowell at large have a right to be thankful that nothing of this kind exists in their midst.

"The poor here are perhaps as well housed as in any city in New England, and their condition is steadily improving."

The reference to the Boston store girls was inspired by certain astonishing disclosures made in Boston a quarter of a century ago by social workers among the salesgirls of the city, which so aroused public opinion as to bring about a speedy correction of the conditions disclosed.

Thanksgiving Eve, a quarter of a century ago saw social gatherings in about all of the halls of the city. The old Sun reported a few of them as follows:

PHILLIPS LITERARY INSTITUTE.
The Phillips Literary Institute held its annual concert and ball in Mechanics hall on Thanksgiving eve, and as usual it was a grand affair. Cummings orchestra of Nashua furnished excellent music and dancing was enjoyed until the early hours of the morning. Among the guests were Mr. Michael Egan, Lynn; Thomas Donahue, Walpole; F. A. Meenan, Haverhill; Miss Keegan, Lynn; Miss Thayer, Nashua; Mr. Mosher, Boston, and several guests from Haverhill, Nashua and Lawrence. The grand march was led by Floor Director Eugene M. Geoffrey and Miss Annie Tierney of Nashua and Assistant Director, William B. Keedy and Miss Annie Harrington. The platform was prettily decorated by McLanmon. Refreshments were served at the Merrimack house.

COTTON SPINNERS PARTY.
The Cotton Spinners held a sociable

Who is Appearing in "Miss George Washington" at the Merrimack Square Theatre Today and Tomorrow

In Labor hall on Thanksgiving eve, with an attendance that filled the place. The early part of the evening was devoted to a musical entertainment as follows: Address of welcome, John Hurst; song, John Farrow; duet, Hurst and Beattie; song, Miss M. Murphy; song, William Fieldon; song, John Cairns; recitation, W. S. Kinsella; song, E. Almsworth. This was followed by an exhibition with a phonograph after which dancing was enjoyed.

CALEDONIAN ENTERTAINMENT.
The Caledonian club held a very enjoyable entertainment at the Opera House. The features of the program were the dancing of Miss Sutcliffe; Scotch ballads, by Miss Annie Shinn; songs, Miss Jennie Livingston; readings, Miss M. H. Gray, and songs by John H. Robertson and William Abercrombie. The singing of Auld Lang Syne by all present closed the entertainment.

BURKE'S AUXILIARY.
The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Burke Temperance Institute held a party in the society hall on Thanksgiving eve with a large attendance. Dancing was enjoyed to the music of the Manhattan orchestra until midnight. Miss Maggie Early was general manager and Miss May Brady had charge of the floor.

Trotting on Boulevard.
Says The Sun of quarter of a century ago:

"On Thursday (Thanksgiving day) there was a great number of trotters on the boulevard and during the day it was the resort of hundreds of pleasure parties in carriages. The boulevard is fast becoming a great pleasure resort."

That was quarter of a century ago, but go there on next Thursday even you'll look long before you encounter a pleasure party, in a carriage. In those days the boulevard was brand new and a great attraction, and all who owned horses that could spin a mile in less than five minutes referred to them as trotters. But the trotting was not daily on the boulevard until the real cold weather came. When the river became safely frozen over the local horsemen would get out their runners and continue their racing on ice. Among the old time horsemen who could be seen on the boulevard were I. Hood, Mayor Palmer, Frank Haines, James P. O'Donnell, Tom McLaughlin, the hotel proprietor, John Lennon and other men then well known in the business and professional life of the city. For their race in horse-racing went flat locally and weeds grew up on the speedway on the boulevard. But the advent of the Lowell Driving club has revived that interest, though whether they'll ever return to the boulevard for their races is doubtful on account of the large number of swift-flying machines that pass to and fro daily. Just prior to the opening of the boulevard and the coming of the fast horses to that section the crowds that assembled there frequently faced toward the river and followed the favorite course along the river bank as the latter coursed up and down the stream, for running parallel to the speedway of the boulevard is a part of the Merrimack river that was declared by Hamilton, Hosmer and other world famous carmen to be the best one mile straightaway race course for carmen in the country, and it was the scene of many an exciting contest in days gone by.

Boom at South Lowell.
Last quarter of a century ago Quimby & Co., the real estate agents, announced in the old Sun the beginning of the building boom at South Lowell, with the sale of 66 building lots, and the firm advertised that land purchased there was bound to increase in value from 25 to 100 per cent in a very short period. The Boston & Maine had already put in the South Lowell station, and the section built up from that time.

Fr. Garin Honored.
Tomorrow will be the feast of St. Andrew, and quarter of a century ago the day was the occasion of a grand demonstration by the French Catholics of Lowell in honor of their pastor, Rev. Andrew M. Garin, O. M. I., which was reported by the old Sun as follows:

On Monday afternoon the pupils of St. Joseph's school, under the direction of their teachers, the Grey Nuns, observed the feast day of their beloved pastor, Rev. Andrew M. Garin. Sunday was the feast day but the observance was deferred for convenience until Monday. The hall on the upper floor was splendidly decorated for the occasion and from the cupola floated the Stars and Stripes and the Tricolor as the only outward signs of the celebration. Long before the hour set for the exercises over 200 persons, young and old, crowded around the school and sought admission to the rooms. Soon the voices of the children were heard in magnificent choruses prepared for the occasion. A very enjoyable program was admirably presented by the school children and at its close the various societies of the parish showed their love and esteem for their pastor in a more practical way.

Mrs. Calise on behalf of the ladies of the Society of St. Anne presented Fr. Garin an address couched in touching language and with it the sum of $100. Mrs. J. W. Alexander, representing the Third Order of St. Francis, followed, and in the name of that society presented the pastor with $200. Miss Josephine Volleur for the Ladies of Notre Dame de Lourdes, with an appropriate address, presented $200. The Society of the Children of Mary, through its president, gave $100, and the Angel Guardian society, $200. The amount of money presented was $1200, which was a magnificent testimony of the love which the people of the parish have for their pastor.

Rev. Fr. Garin replied at some length, expressing appreciation of the love of which the magnificent gifts bequeathed him were such an unmistakable proof. He mentioned the various projects just started in the parish, the new college and the new church of St. Jean Baptiste, and expressed the hope that both would be completed without unnecessary delay. On Thursday, Dec. 10, a dramatic club of the Association Catholique gave a performance in Huntington hall in honor of Fr. Garin, which filled the great building.

A Unique Case.
The Sun of quarter of a century ago contained the following, which it had copied from the Boston Pilot:

"A curious legal contest is pending in Lowell, Mass., being the suit of a man to recover the title deed to his own body. Twenty years ago in exchange of the sum of $10 and other considerations he made a contract with a New Hampshire surgeon to let the latter take his body whenever he should die, and after dissection present the skeleton to a medical college. The seller, then very poor, has since made a fortune and desires to recover the title to his remains. He has offered a large sum for the deed but the surgeon declines to re-convey it. The best thing the man can do is to outlive the surgeon, but if he should not, his heirs might set up the defence, supported by physicians, that as the human body is totally renewed every seven years, the personal property conveyed to the surgeon 20 years ago ceased to exist within seven years from the date of the deed, and the vendor might have lawfully disposed of his mortal interest at least three times within a score of years. The New Hampshire lawyer could not buy his in 1851 a clear title to a body that was not in existence until say, 1885."

ATTACHMENTS FOR SIX MILLION DOLLARS FILED

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 27.—Attachments for six million dollars were filed in the registry of deeds of Hampden county this morning by John Marsh, of Chicago, amounting to six million dollars. One attachment is against the Southern New England Railroad corporation and the other against the Southern New England Railroad corporation and Central Vermont Grand Trunk railway. The attachments are for $3,000,000 each. Mr. Marsh was the contractor employed to build the line from Providence, R. I., to Palmer, Mass., work on which was discontinued.

SYLVANUS SMITH DEAD

Fisherman Out of Gloucester for 25 Years Before Becoming Owner of Large Fleets

GLoucester, Nov. 27.—Sylvanus Smith, most widely known of the men who have directed the fishing industry from this port, died at his home today. He had been nearly a quarter of a century of service as a fisherman out of Gloucester before becoming an owner of large fleets.

Capt. Smith, who was 87 years old, was a member of the American delegation which met with a Canadian fisheries commission to discuss joint fishing problems in 1877. In later years he had acted as spokesman for the fishing industry of the city at Washington and elsewhere. He served several terms in both branches of the state legislature.

IN MILADY'S BOUDOIR

THE SKIN IN WINTER

Chapped skin is very sure to be common in winter and we know from experience how very irritating this annoyance can be. The most delicate skin, the face or neck of protection against the cold, biting north winds. I have seen some very stubborn cases of chapping render the sufferer most unsightly and at the same time cause acute suffering.

The only way to guard against chapped skin is to give it first aid in counteracting the effects of the cold, and rendering it as immune as one can make it against the playful zephyrs of winter.

One of the simplest and effective ways of coming out of the winter months unscathed by the frosty winds is to apply a good cold cream liberally to the affected parts. This does not mean that you should use a cold cream, but a cream which is as immune as one can make it against the playful zephyrs of winter.

ELECTION FIGHT MAY GO TO SUPREME COURT

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 27.—The court contest between Representative Britt, republican, and Zebulon Weaver, democrat, who claims election to congress from the tenth district, culminated today in the dismissal of a writ of mandamus sought by Britt against the Buncombe county canvassing board and the announcement by Britt's lawyers that the case will be taken to the state supreme court. Democratic leaders say the state election board, which meets Thursday, will issue a certificate of election to Weaver.

LEGISLATION TO CUT THE COST OF LIVING

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Legislation intended to reduce the cost of living is under consideration by Gov. Whitman, he said at his hotel here today after conference with men interested in the campaign to effect lower prices and who, it was understood, represented prominent financial interests.

CARRY SLINGSBY CASE TO THE HOUSE OF LORDS

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Announcement was made today that sufficient funds had been raised to carry the Slingsby legitimacy case to the house of lords and that the case would be brought to the court of appeals within a fortnight.

The court of appeals ruled last March that an infant born in San Francisco and declared to be the lawful son of Charles R. Slingsby was not the rightful heir to the Slingsby estates in England.

VICTIM OF AUTO CRASH

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 27.—James O'Brien, a dentist, died today from the effects of injuries received last night when an automobile in which he was riding with Bartley Connolly, business manager, and Theodore B. Godfrey, advertising solicitor of the Portland Daily Press, turned turtle at Cape Elizabeth. Godfrey was seriously hurt but Connolly escaped with only slight injuries.

300 QUIT BECAUSE BOSS WAS DISCHARGED

FALL RIVER, Nov. 27.—Incensed at the discharge of an overseer, 300 employees in the spinning room of the Fall River Iron Works No. 7 went on strike today. The walkout necessitated the shutting down of a part of the weave room, on account of a shortage in filling material as a result of the spinners' strike.

BIG LEAGUE MEETINGS

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—The special meeting of the National baseball commission, to have been held here Wednesday, was today postponed until next Saturday because of the inability of President Toner of the National league to be present.

President Johnson of the American league also announced that the annual meeting of that league, which was set for Dec. 12, had been postponed two days. It will be held in Chicago.

QUARTERLY DIVIDEND

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The Standard Gas & Electric Co., operating lighting and water properties in 16 southern and western states, today declared a quarterly dividend of 1 1/2 per cent, or half of 1 per cent, on its previous dividend, on the preferred stock.

DECLINE IN SPECULATIVE ISSUES AT OPENING

RESERVE BOARD WARNING CITED AS FACTOR IN DECLINE

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The note of warning sounded by the federal reserve board created little more than a ripple on the financial surface at the outset of today's trading. Some of the more speculative issues declined a point, with similar reversals in leading industrial, equipment and metal stocks, but this probably resulted from technical conditions as much as anything else.

But, notably Union Pacific and Reading were firm and a further inquiry for this was noted. Ohio Gas featured utilities at a point of advance. More stability was manifested at the end of the first half hour.

VILLA HOLDS CHIHUAHUA CITY; CARRANZISTAS FLEE

JUAREZ, Mex., Nov. 28.—A persistent report is current here that Gen. Trevino has evacuated Chihuahua City and is retiring eastward leaving Villa and his bandits in control of the city. The report is said to have been brought by courier to Terrazas station and telegraphed to Gen. Gonzales in command here.

Carranzistas here say they have nothing to do regarding the reported retreat of Trevino, but admit the possibility that Villa holds Chihuahua City.

Early today Gen. Gonzales left for San Juan, and if possible, learn the fate of the de facto troops in Chihuahua City.

An unconfirmed report current here is that Gen. Trevino was able to take only his cavalry out of Chihuahua City being forced to abandon his artillery to Villa and his infantry deserting to the bandit leader.

BANDITS MOVE NORTH

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 28.—Francisco Villa's bandit army after its reported capture of Chihuahua City is proceeding northward, according to meagre information obtainable here today. Carranza military officers at Juarez would not confirm the report that Villa had taken the city, but said they were advised Villa's forces were moving toward the border and steps were being taken to defend Juarez against a possible bandit attack. This action was in accordance with orders said to have been received last night from Gen. Jacinto Trevino, Carranza military commander at Chihuahua.

Trevino, one report stated, was moving southward with his forces to join the reinforcements under General Murguía reported marching toward the state capital.

Direct word from Chihuahua City last night told of fighting Sunday between the de facto forces and Villa bandits within the city, and stated that the Villa forces were withdrawing to the north.

The message added that Trevino's troops were then celebrating the defeat of the bandits and that repair trains had been sent out to restore communication with Juarez. Early today telegraph lines were working only as far south as San Juan, 26 miles north of the state capital, from where Trevino's message was sent last night.

HEARS OF EVACUATION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Army officials on the border advised the war department today that they had heard repeated rumors that Gen. Trevino, the Carranza commander at Chihuahua City, had evacuated that city before the continued attack of Villa bandits. The war department, however, had no official confirmation and was inclined to doubt it.

SUCCESS FOR GERMANS

have driven the Rumanians from the line of the Topolos, and may even have broken near its northern end the line of the Argeanu, along which the Rumanians were expected to make a decisive stand.

Semi-Circle Being Drawn Closer

Thus the semi-circle drawn about Bucharest and the Rumanian armies is gradually but steadily being drawn closer. Substantial successes are reported by Berlin in the new operations for tightening the grip.

Two Zeppelins Lost

The latest German air raid over England cost the raiders the loss of two Zeppelins, according to London's official report today. Both machines were brought down in flames by airships assisted in one case by an armed trawler. Damage and casualties from the raid, which took place late last night over Yorkshire and Durham and extended into the North Midland counties, are believed to be slight, it is claimed.

On Franco-Bulgarian Front

Considerable interest attaches to the reports of artillery activity that continue to come from the Ypres, Arras and Armentieres districts towards the northern end of the Franco-Belgian front. The Ypres sector in particular has been twice mentioned within the last 24 hours in the British reports. Last night as the scene of a British bombardment, while today heavy German shelling of the line north of Ypres is recorded. Recent reports from Berlin declared that indications were accumulating that an attack by the German lines on the western front was in contemplation.

Entente Forces Defeated

Berlin today emphasizes the importance of the German-Bulgarian success in defeating a strong attack by entente forces along a wide front in the Monastir region. Extremely heavy losses are declared to have been suffered by the French, Serbian, Italian and Russian in an assault which netted them nothing.

Another German Naval Raid

Another raid by German naval forces near the English North sea coast is announced today. The capture

BUCHAREST, MENACED BY TEUTONS ADVANCE, CALLED THE "POCKET PARIS" OF EUROPE

VIEWS IN BUCHAREST

Bucharest, the capital city of Rumania, menaced with capture by the Teutonic armies of Falkenhayn and Mackensen, offers the biggest municipal prize in the Balkans. It is by far the largest city and the richest and most important in that part of the warring world. The "Pocket Paris" as Bucharest is called before war, east a center of the gay sports of the people, claims a population of about 350,000, which puts it in a class by itself among Balkan capitals. Athens has less than 200,000 people, Sofia about 100,000, and Belgrade, before it was devastated by war, had less than 100,000. While, however, the Rumanian capital is far in advance of 200,000 folk.

Until Rumania's decision to enter the war brought serious matters upon the city, Bucharest was the gayest city in Europe. Large numbers of her citizens had made fortunes out of the war, and they were liberal spenders. Originally a squalid, meanly built city, like all the capitals of the near east, Bucharest has of late years sought to become a Balkan Paris and with a fair measure of success. Many fine public and business buildings and private residences along the streets, and numerous hotels, which charge 50 a day for the smallest rooms, are numerous as are expensive restaurants, cabarets, theatres and dance halls. It is the metal plated cupolas of the innumerable churches, however, which give to Bucharest its most picturesque aspect in the eyes of the visitor from the west.

Bucharest is 565 feet above sea level, in the fertile but treeless plain of the small, sluggish Danubio river, and its situation is such as to render it difficult of defense in time of war. An elaborate system of fortifications, commenced thirty years ago, surrounds the city. Bucharest had a considerable population of German and Hungarian workmen, but most of these left to join the armies of the central empires before Rumania entered the war.

At a luncheon General Falkenhayn gave to neutral correspondents he remarked that although "nothing in this world is so certain as one day's peace, it is the metal plated cupolas of the innumerable churches, however, which give to Bucharest its most picturesque aspect in the eyes of the visitor from the west."

POPE BENEDICT WILL MAKE PLEA FOR PEACE

Pope Benedict is working daily with Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, on an allocation which he will deliver in a secret consistory on Dec. 4. This allocation will be one of the most important documents issued by the papacy since the beginning of the war.

The allocation will show, it is said, the perfect impartiality of the holy see, which desired altogether to prevent the war, but, having failed, used all means at his disposal to shorten the conflict, meanwhile making arrangements to alleviate the sufferings caused by the war without any distinction of nationality or creed of the belligerents. The allocation, it is reported, will make another desperate appeal in favor of peace, inviting the faithful throughout the world to continue their prayers with that as their object.

The death of Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria-Hungary and the accession to the throne of Emperor Charles have obliged the pope to make alterations in his allocation. He will speak of the life of the emperor, his attachment to religion and the church, and he will express the hope that the reign of the new ruler may soon be crowned with the blessing of peace.

TWO ZEPPELINS BROUGHT DOWN IN FLAMES CREWS PERISHED

GERMAN AIRSHIP DROPS BOMBS ON LONDON

COUNCIL VOTES SEPARATE BIDS ON HIGH SCHOOL FOR LOCAL MEN ONLY

LONDON, Nov. 28.—Two Zeppelins, which raided the northeast coast and the North Midland counties during the night were brought down and destroyed by British gunners and it is understood the crews of both airships perished. This makes a total of seven German airships destroyed in England in the present year while six have been brought down in other fields of operations.

The two months of immunity which Great Britain had had from hostile air raids led many persons to believe the Germans would not risk any more of their airships in attacks which, while causing numerous casualties among civilians and damage to private property, were said in England to have gained no military advantage for them. The authorities, regarding the protection of London as fairly complete, continued their work, how-

The municipal council at today's meeting, by a vote of four to one, voted for the sub-dividing of contracts for the building of the Lowell high school and the confining of all bids to Lowell contractors. Commissioners Dunham, Morse, Putnam and Donnelly voted in favor of the motion—which was introduced by Commissioner Dunham. Mayor O'Donnell voted against it, saying that while he would like to see either a general contract or a divided contract go to local contractors, he is in favor of calling for bids in both ways and permitting Lowell contractors to compete. There was considerable discussion before the vote was taken and the commissioners who voted in favor of the motion brought out the arguments urged by many of the remonstrants at the recent hearing before the municipal council. The vote of today's meeting gives the local contractors and labor interests all they asked for at last Friday's meeting.

There was a spirited discussion relative to a petition for sidewalks from Mr. Hope street to Riverside and a counter petition of some residents that the sidewalks be left as at present. Owing to the protest Mr. Morse had decided not to put in sidewalks from Second avenue to Riverside street but the first petitioners want either the LONDON, Nov. 28, 3.40 p. m.—Flying at a great height a German airplane this morning passed over London and dropped six bombs on the capital, according to an official statement issued this afternoon. Four persons were injured and only slight material damage, it is added, was caused.

The text of the British announcement says: "This morning six bombs were dropped on London by a hostile airplane flying at a great height above the haze. "Four persons were injured, of whom one, a woman, was seriously hurt. The material damage was slight, consisting largely of broken windows."

LONDON, Nov. 28.—Shortly after noon the news spread rapidly through London that a German airplane over the town was dropping bombs. The raiders flew at a great height. Crowds gathered quickly at points where the bombs fell. Four injured persons were taken to a hospital. The material damage was very slight, consisting largely of broken windows.

LONDON EXCITED OVER RAID

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The British government today issued a statement that the German airship which was reported to have been shot down on the coast of Ireland, was in fact a Zeppelin. The statement said that the airship was seen on the coast of Ireland on the morning of the 27th inst. and that it was shot down by British gunners. The statement also said that the airship was carrying a large quantity of bombs and that it was seen to drop several of these bombs on the coast of Ireland.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Great Britain's official notification that safe conduct for Count Tarnowski, the new Austrian ambassador would not be granted, was received today at the state department. The reasons given substantially are the same as reported from London. The British note will not be made public, Secretary Lansing said.

Several courses are open to the United States. First it may present the request in its own name. It was thought that while England might have refused the request on the ground that it came from an enemy state it would not refuse one directly from this country.

There is the possibility that Count Tarnowski might start without a safe conduct and with the challenge to remove a diplomatic officer accredited to the United States. The United States holds the ambassador is protected by his diplomatic immunity and any violation probably would involve this country in a dispute.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—At the foreign office it was said today that the British government felt that it could not give out the text of the note sent to Ambassador Page, refusing to grant a safe conduct to Count Tarnowski. The note, it was said, was a refusal to grant a safe conduct to Count Tarnowski, the new Austrian ambassador, who was reported to have been shot down on the coast of Ireland on the morning of the 27th inst. and that it was shot down by British gunners. The statement also said that the airship was carrying a large quantity of bombs and that it was seen to drop several of these bombs on the coast of Ireland.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 28.—Stray bullets from a rifle fired on the British steamer Scythian of the Leyland line, bound in from Liverpool, pierced the smokestack of the public health service ship Neptune on Saturday at the mouth of the Mississippi. The Neptune reported the affair here today.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Reports to the public health service say the shots on the steamer Scythian fired from the British steamer Neptune undoubtedly were accidental and indicated that they were fired at some object in the river.

WHEAT PRICES WENT TO PIECES LATE TODAY

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Wheat prices went to pieces late today in a general stampede to sell. Extreme losses of 13 1/2¢ a bushel were shown for a brief interval, the December delivery falling to $2.60 as compared with $2.73 1/2 to $2.75 at the close yesterday. Futures, however, took place before today's session ended, and the finish although excited was at a setback of five cents to 7 1/2¢ net.

Embargoes announced on six railroads shutting off grain outlets from here to the seaboard had much to do with starting the wild attempt to unload. Word of German naval activity on a big scale, taken to indicate possibly increased difficulty for grain exporters in shipping from the United States, tended also to put holders of wheat into a semi-panic.

HUSBAND'S DEATH KILLS WIFE

REPORT U. S. SHIP HAS BEEN SUNK

LONDON, Nov. 28, 4.43 p. m.—Lloyds reports that the American steamship Chemung has been sunk.

MORE SHIPS SUNK

LONDON, Nov. 28.—Lloyds announces that the British steamship City of Birmingham has been sunk. The British steamship Erasmus which was previously reported to have been sunk, has been towed into Gravesend, considerably damaged by a mine or torpedo.

The City of Birmingham, 7485 tons gross, was reported lost on her arrival in Bombay from Liverpool on Sept. 4. The Chemung sailed from New York on Nov. 8 for Genoa and Naples and stopped at Fayal, Azores, on Nov. 20. She was owned by the Herby Steamship Co. of New York, was built in 1888 at Buffalo and was of 3027 tons gross.

LONDON, Nov. 28, 5.58 p. m.—The crew of the Chemung has been landed at Valencia by the Spanish steamer Giner, says a Reuter dispatch from Valencia today.

NORWEGIAN SHIP SUNK

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The Norwegian steamship Vishorg, of 1211 gross tons has been sunk according to an announcement made today at Lloyds shipping agency. The captain and crew of the vessel have been landed at Braemar Castle, which recently in the Aegean sea, have failed to establish whether they were destroyed by mines or torpedoes.

SINKING OF HOSPITAL SHIPS

LONDON, Nov. 28.—An official announcement given here today says that inquiries regarding the loss of the British hospital ships Britannic and Braemar Castle, which recently in the Aegean sea, have failed to establish whether they were destroyed by mines or torpedoes.

DANISH SHIP CAPTURED

LONDON, Nov. 28.—Lloyd's shipping agency today announced the following: The Danish steamer Villenorm of 773 tons gross, from Esbjerg for Grimsby, has been captured.

The captain and crew of the Norwegian steamer Belle Isle, of 1858 tons gross, have been landed and report that their steamer was torpedoed by a German submarine. The Belle Isle was last reported on Nov. 2 as passing Ushant while bound from Gotherburg for Bilbao.

The French sailing vessels Alfred Decourcy of 144 tons gross and Mervina of 112 tons gross have been sunk.

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 28.—United States government officials here claim to have received positive information regarding the reported evacuation of Chihuahua City by Gen. COMPLAINER WAS THE THIEF

A young man who yesterday hired an automobile from a Billerica garage and shortly afterward reported that the machine had been stolen, sent the police of three towns on an all-day chase in an attempt to find the thief or thieves. The man, whose name was withheld, called at the Billerica garage yesterday and hired a machine. Later he reported to the police that the car had been stolen near Lexington park in Bedford, while he was making a call. During the afternoon the car was found badly wrecked on a highway between Waltham and Lexington.

A police investigation started and it was learned that a young man answering the description of the one who reported the theft had boarded an electric car near the scene of the wreck and had asked for a Billerica transfer. The police became convinced that there was no third implicated and abandoned their search.

CHALIFOUX'S ON THE SQUARE

When the white men first settled America they found that the Indians were wearing moccasins made of animal skin.

From continual contact with the Indians the white men learned to make moccasins, and as the years went by made them in greater and greater quantity. Come and see our stock of moccasins. We have them made of deerskin and various other animal skins. We also have them plain or beaded, in fact in all styles, and all prices.

For home comfort and ease, try a pair of moccasins and see what a relief they are after wearing tight-fitting, high-heeled shoes.

AMMUNITION SHORTAGE CAUSED EVACUATION

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 28.—United States government officials here claim to have received positive information regarding the reported evacuation of Chihuahua City by Gen. Jacinto Treviño, the Carranza commander, because of a shortage of ammunition. These officials have sent an official report to Washington regarding this report.

JUAREZ, Mex., Nov. 28.—Reinforcements for Gen. Treviño are being assembled in San Juan station, 32 miles north of Chihuahua City and will be led toward the city by Gen. Francisco Gonzalez, commander of the Juarez.

THE PROPATRIA ARRIVES

NORTH SYDNEY, N. S. W., Nov. 28.—The steamer Propatria, which stranded at Flat Point early today arrived off this port this morning. She was apparently not seriously damaged. It was at first reported that the steamer was the American, a vessel which is said to have called for help in radiograms picked up by shore stations. No word has been received at this port of such a steamer.

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 28.—Dominion marine officials endeavored today to trace distress calls sent out last night by a steamer said to be named Amerique. A report came to the local agent of the marine and fisheries department that the steamer had arrived safely off North Sydney, C. B., but it could not be confirmed. No record of a vessel bearing the name Amerique was available.

In some quarters it was suggested that the signals originated with the steamer Propatria, which was reported ashore near Flat Point, C. B., early this morning. Tugs were dispatched to her assistance. The Propatria carries passengers, mails and a freight cargo between St. Pierre, Miq., and this port.

ONE WAY TO BEAT THE HIGH PRICE OF TURKEY

Somebody evidently will not worry about the high cost of turkey for Thanksgiving for last night or early this morning, under the cover of darkness, the somebody in question purchased a fine big bird which was consigned to Swift & Co. of this city.

A freight car containing about 1000 turkeys was backed up to the rear of the Swift & Co. plant in Dutton street yesterday and this morning when employees started to unload the car it was found that the seal on the door had been broken, the door opened, the cover of one of the boxes pried off and one turkey missing. The company feels almost like commending the fellow for taking only one turkey.

EXERCISES IN SCHOOLS

Appropriate exercises will be held in all the local public schools tomorrow in observance of Thanksgiving day. In most of the schools, however, the exercises will be confined to the various classrooms and will consist of the reading of the president's proclamation, recitations and songs.

BAR IMPORTATION OF CATTLE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 28.—The state board of agriculture today issued an order prohibiting the importation of cattle into Rhode Island, except by permission of John J. Dunn, secretary of the board. The action was taken to prevent the spread of the foot and mouth disease into the state.

RECEIVER FILES LIST OF B. & M.'S PROPERTY

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—James H. Huston, temporary receiver for the Boston & Maine railroad, filed an inventory of the property and assets of the Boston & Maine railroad in the United States district court yesterday.

The inventory, which is of Nov. 20, when he took charge under orders of the court, does not make any valuation of the property as a whole. The items follow:

$12,035,407 in Cash

Cash on deposit, $5,634,153.11, cash held by agents and conductors as working capital $3,401,304.32.

Amount due from other transportation companies $184,075.33. Other accounts receivable $88,700.65.

Expenditures for additions and improvements on leased roads $650,850.13, on other leaseholds $2,685,672.15, on grade crossings $50,503.10.

Materials and supplies $5,381,541.97. Bills receivable $255,253.51.

725.42 Miles of Trackage

According to the inventory the road has 725.42 miles of trackage, and 1,244.10 miles leased. In addition there is 237.59 miles of second and third trackage with 322.51 miles leased, also side tracks 418.13 miles, with 346.64 leased.

Locomotives 638 with 301 under lease, passenger cars 1232, with 778 under lease, freight cars 16,187, with 6645 under lease, service cars 1009 with 495 under lease. In addition the inventory includes the steamer Mount Washington, which operates on Lake Winnepesaukee during the summer season.

The inventory also sets out in detail the real estate and station property which the road owns.

Securities held by the Boston & Maine include notes of other roads for $1,420,265.95, bonds of other roads valued at $620,000 and stocks in other roads to the extent of 11,747 shares.

The principal dealer of the Boston & Maine road on notes is the St. Johnsbury & Lake Champlain Railroad company.

The Boston & Maine holds notes of this road for $2,040,000 and $420,000 worth of its bonds. Forty-four of the bonds, the inventory states, are now overdue.

The Boston & Maine also holds $757,375.50 worth of notes of the Fitchburg Railroad company and $5,114 shares of Fitchburg common stock. Also $482,000 in notes of the Connecticut river railroad of which $50,000 were due Aug. 31, last.

The road also holds notes of the Hampton railroad amounting to $210,000 due last January.

In addition the Boston & Maine holds notes of the Conway Electric Street Railway company aggregating $10,144.79 and miscellaneous notes valued at $162.53.

Other Securities Held

Other securities held included bonds of the Maine Railway companies valued at $124,200 which the receiver says have been paid since he was appointed; bonds of the Montreal & Atlantic Railway company, $108,000, and $540 worth of bonds of the Woodsville Aqueduct company.

The stock held includes, in addition to what has already been stated, 5475 shares of the Boston & Lowell, 2377 shares of the Concord & Montreal, 2340 shares of the York Harbor & Beach railroad and 1771 miscellaneous shares including $70 common and preferred of the St. Johnsbury & Lake Champlain railroad.

The inventory also gives a list of

Indoor Life Makes Fat

TRY OIL OF KOREAN TO KEEP WEIGHT DOWN, OR TO REDUCE SUPERFLUOUS FAT

People who are confined within doors and who are deprived of fresh, invigorating air and exercise must take precautions to guard against over-stoutness, as fat acquired by indoor life is unhealthy and a danger to the vital organs of the body. Lack of exercise in the fresh air is said to weaken the oxygen carrying power of the blood, so that it is unable to produce strong muscles and vitality and the formation of unsightly and unhealthy fat is the result.

If you are 15 or 20 pounds above normal weight you are daily drawing on your reserve strength and are constantly lowering your vitality by carrying this excess burden. Any person who is satisfied in their own mind that they are too stout are advised to go to a good druggist and get a box of oil of Korean capsules, and take one after each meal and one just before retiring at night.

Even a few days' treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight, improved digestion and a return of the old energy. Footnotes become lighter and the excess fat disappears as superfluous fat disappears.

Oil of Korean is inexpensive, cannot injure and helps the digestion. Any person who wants to reduce 15 or 20 pounds is advised to give this treatment a trial. A. W. Dows & Co. can supply you.

the securities held by the leased roads as follows:

Boston & Lowell, $740,000 bonds of the St. Johnsbury & Lake Champlain railroad and 25,000 shares of stock in the same road and 431 shares of stock in the Peterborough railroad and the Essex Marine railway.

Fitchburg, $125,000 bonds of the Conway Electric Street Railway company and 1,000 shares of stock in various companies including 14,456 shares of its own stock.

Concord & Montreal, $10,000 bonds of the Woodsville Aqueduct company, and 1000 shares of stock in various small roads.

Connecticut River railroad, 248 shares of stock of the Hampton Park association.

Connecticut & Passumpsic Rivers railroad, 15,150 shares of stock in various roads.

Northern railroad, 5700 shares of stock in various roads.

TO ROOM NEW ENGLAND

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—Believing that what is good for New England is good for the Boston & Maine, and vice versa, the road will on Jan. 1, inaugurate a "Room New England" campaign that will reach as far west as Iowa.

Robert H. Newcomb, publicity representative of the road, originator of the plan, gave an outline of it yesterday afternoon at a gathering of owners of civic and business organizations and a newspapermen in the office of President Huntley, at whose suggestion the meeting was held. Samples of pictures to be shown were thrown on a screen.

Mr. Jones, official photographer of the Boston & Maine, who is giving illustrated lectures on "The White Mountains of New Hampshire," "The Seacoast and Island Waters," "Maine, the Sportsman's Paradise," "New England, the Mother of History" and "Winter in the White Hills." The lectures will be given at various points along the road.

Mr. Jones' hotel bills, The Boston & Maine will not be mentioned in any of the lectures.

19,854 PERSONS PAY INCOME TAX IN MASS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—To a total individual income tax of approximately $1,000,000 for the entire country, Massachusetts contributed $420,785.75, according to a report for the fiscal year 1916 made public today by the Federal Reserve commission.

The commission's figure is 15.63 percent of the total income tax and corporate taxes of $2,821,752.11 and of all taxes on "regular taxes" in people paid $2,821,752.11.

Of the total income in the state, the commission's figure shows that the state's income tax is 1.14 percent of the total income of the state.

TURKEY TOO HIGH FOR THE POOR MAN'S TABLE

Mary had a little lamb (stew). It's meat was tough and jerky. But 'twas the best that she could do At the present price of turkey!

A lamb stew, of course, wouldn't make what one would call a "Thanksgiving dinner," but out New York way, where turkeys have been boycotted, there are all kinds of things floating on the sea of subsistence. Turkey is the most popular substitute for turkey, but lamb (especially not in a stew) is also a favorite.

But we are not as much interested in New Yorkers as we are in ourselves, and there are people right here in Lowell who will find it a difficult task to purchase turkeys at the prices which obtain at the present time.

Lowell wholesalers report a very brisk demand for the cheaper fowl, and a very active market for fancy turkeys and other things that are not expected to be in the market for a long time.

It really looks as if there was a quiet little boom on turkey night here in Lowell.

A tip by wireless from Boston reached Lowell this morning, which said that the price of turkeys had risen to 40 cents a pound, and that the market was very active.

Reasons for the high price are set forth as follows: "Starting from the fact that the price of turkeys has risen to 40 cents a pound, and that the market is very active, it is not surprising that the price of turkeys has risen to 40 cents a pound, and that the market is very active."

Lowell retailers, however, are not entirely dependent on the local market for their stock. The Boston market is a prime source of supply.

THAT JAR OF MUSTEROLE ON THE BATH-ROOM SHELF

Has Relieved Pain for Every One in the Family

When little Susie had the cramp, when Johnny's little feet were aching cold, when father sprained his knee, when granny's rheumatism bothered her, that jar of Musterole was right there to give relief and comfort.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It will not blister like a mustard plaster.

Quick relief for sore throat, bronchitis, headache, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, toothache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or limbs, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bitten feet, colds on the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). Try Musterole for croupy children.

ply for quite a number of the retailers, but a feature of the wholesale market in Boston, yesterday, was the lack of the usual buying by out-of-town dealers.

The failure of these retailers to buy was explained by a Lowell retailer today. He dealt in Boston, but he is not going to buy any turkeys except what have been ordered in advance.

Because of the high cost of birds he has been canvassing his customers and told them that if they wanted a turkey they would have to order ahead.

"The prices are so high that I did not want to take a chance," said the Lowell dealer, "for I could not afford to have any left on my hands. I do not blame people for not wanting to buy turkeys at the prices quoted today."

Fresh pork, it might be mentioned, has not stirred in price and can still be bought right around 20 cents a pound at retail for the roasting trade. Celery took a jump yesterday as a result of the buying in anticipation of holiday needs, with the Boston market variety selling up to 30 cents a bunch.

BATTERY C AMONG 6 BEST IN EFFICIENCY TEST

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 28.—The militia division of the war department today made public the results of efficiency examinations conducted by the regular army of the 57 units which comprise the total field artillery strength of the national guard.

Out of the six highest scores, three were won by Massachusetts batteries. Battery A, Rhode Island, is given first place; Battery A, Massachusetts, second; First Battery, First Third, Massachusetts, third; Battery C, Massachusetts, fourth; and Battery C, Iowa, fifth place.

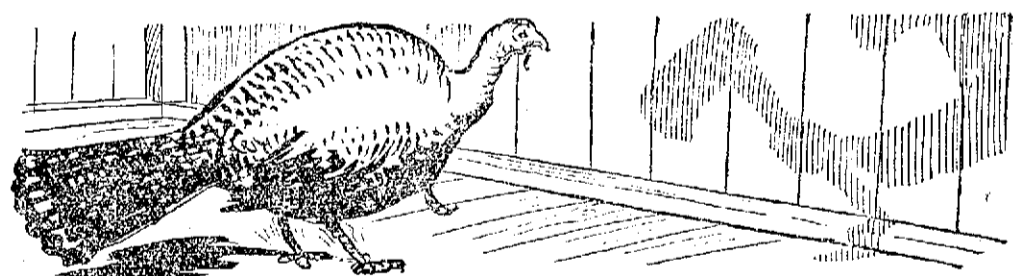

Of the 27 headquarters detachments, also examined, the first battalion, Massachusetts, won the first. Next comes first battalion, Georgia, the second, and headquarters, Battalion of the First Massachusetts and the first battalion Ohio.

LORENZO KNOCKED OUT

TAUNTON, Nov. 28.—Leo Grebler of Boston had a slight advantage over Paul Deane of New Bedford in the eighth-round final bout at the Taunton A.A. last night. Battling Hurley of Beverly knocked out Tony Lorenzo of Boston in three rounds; Young Roy of New Bedford defeated Billy Johnson of Fall River, "Boss" Davidson knocked out Young Lamond.

THE SUN SPORTING PAGE

BOXING, GOLF
AND ATHLETICSRACING SEASON
SUCCESSFUL IN ENGLAND

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The flat racing season in England, which ended with the first week of November, was accounted quite successful notwithstanding that it ran into the third year of the war. There were twenty-three meetings in England, eleven at Newmarket, four at Lingfield, three at Gatwick, three at Newbury and two at Windsor. There will be jumping meets during the winter, but as special trains are not permitted and the supply of petrol for automobiles is limited, the crowds are not expected to be up to the usual standard.

The king continued to lend his patronage and appears in the final list of winners with purses aggregating $5,682 to his credit. All the classic races of the English turf were maintained, although many of them did not come up to the value of the past years.

The leading winning owner was E. Hulton, a newspaper proprietor with $38,320. The Earl of Derby, whose time is almost wholly taken up by his duties as under secretary of war, kept his racing establishment intact and was the second winner with $45,430. The Duke of Portland was third with $40,025. Lord Palmouth was fourth with $31,500; J. Buchanan, fifth with $25,425 and Lord D'Abernon, head of the liquor control board during war time, is sixth with $23,200. The winning jockey was S. Donoghue, who had 43 mounts first past the wire.

A day's racing at Newmarket, known as "headquarters" of the English turf, retained this fall many of the picturesque features of pre-war days, with some distinctly novel attractions. The crowds were perhaps a bit more subdued although English racing throngs never have quite the same exuberance, or the same tendency to "ride" a winner home as one meets on the tracks around New York, London or Louisville. The winners here, with their winners with a calm and some what disdainful self-assurance, while the losers lose with no disposition to "grouse" or "grouch" as it would be rendered in American.

Newmarket lies seventy miles northeast of London, but this is not counted a great distance when a splendid big motor car has been successfully requisitioned and the day's program offers a card of seven well-filled races.

The way leads out the famous Seven Sisters road, which is a royal road, just a few weeks before the war started, and echoed with the chorused voices of thousands of German singers. The old English inns and public houses along the road always are a source of interest to racing devotees because of their quaint construction and still quieter names. There are the "Fighting Cocks," the "Ball and Horseshoe," the "White Heart," the "Coach and Horses," the "Three Tuns," and scores of others. The English countryside is beautiful at all times of the year, and in the autumn months the grass is as green as in the fields in the spring. "Six Mile Bottom" is a welcome station along the way, for from there to Newmarket lies a six mile stretch of arrow-straight road which invites a speed limited only by fear of the county constable.

Newmarket, somewhat slow and sleepy by general disposition, is alive and throbbing with excitement on racing days.

The road from town to track is fairly clogged with all manner of vehicles. One finds wartime racing is a far different thing from the ordinary sort and entrance to the grandstand is to be had for one pound with two shillings extra as a war tax. The stand is not large, for England takes its racing in the open on the broad lawns and in the open air paddock. Getting goes on "as usual" with the bookmakers calling their odds in a manner calculated to attract and persuade. In return for a five pound note, or a one pound note, or perhaps your "two and six" in silver, you get a bit of numbered pastboard, which may or may not be worth preserving.

Newmarket is not a race track in the American sense. The grandstand and surrounding enclosures seem rather a gathering station set in the midst of never-ending fields of wonderfully green and velvety turf. But to the right there are the familiar rail fences which mark the several starts or straightaway courses into the home stretch. Witnessing the start of an English race is not vouchsafed to the spectators. As it is a mile race the horses start a mile away from the grandstand. If it is a mile and a half race, they start a mile and a half away. The tracks here are built for racing, not to afford a spectacle. The racecourse must be content with the brief struggle he sees in the last hundred yards or so and the flash past the winning post. Even this thrill is denied when occasionally the finish line is moved a furlong or so up the track to conform to some century-old tradition.

During an afternoon's racing this year one could see on the tracks all the colors long familiar to the English course, the plumage of Lord Rosebery, the black, white cap of Lord Derby, the white, black sleeves, of the Duke of Portland, the yellow, black cap of the Duke of Westminster; the blue and yellow colors of Baron de Rothschild; the dark blue and buff stripes of the Earl of Jersey; the light blue and pink sash of Major Waldorf Astor, and the scarlet of Lord Duesbury, who married Miss Vivian Gould.

Each racing throng contains its share of khaki, officers on inland duty or home from the front on leave. Many of them, like Major Astor, own horses which are entered for the various events.

The return to London from Newmarket by motor clearly makes up for any thrills that may have been wanting at the tracks. First there is the headlong rush along the road to cover as many miles as possible before the fast-setting sun rubs the land of its protective rays and night closes in. For headlights in times of war are taboo and the motorist must grope his way through the darkness as best he can by the pale flicker of his screened sidelamps. Some of the English motorists have become adepts in the dark and speed along at twenty to thirty miles an hour, swerving suddenly now and then to avoid a darkened wagon or a motor bound in the opposite direction. To the novice from abroad this running through the blackness of night and the narrow escapes from collision are anything but reassuring.

The outskirts of London may be reached within the first hour of darkness in which the searchlights of the city's aerial defenses play in practice so that they may be skillfully directed against any intruding Zeppelin that of the night.

Sweeping in from the country the spectacle of the searchlight canopy over the city is one never to be forgotten. The blazing white beams shoot from every angle, and some dark and speed along at twenty to thirty miles an hour, swerving suddenly now and then to avoid a darkened wagon or a motor bound in the opposite direction. To the novice from abroad this running through the blackness of night and the narrow escapes from collision are anything but reassuring.

By the time the twisting, tortuous streets of the inner city are reached the searchlight trials generally are at an end, and once again comes the slow growing through the gloom.

A day of war time racing is a day of striking contrasts.

FANCY SKATING CHAMP

Billy Carpenter, former Lowell boy, to appear at Rollaway Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Welcome to our city! This undoubtedly will be the greeting accorded Billy Carpenter, champion skater and trick star of the world, who will open a three days' engagement at the Rollaway rink on Thursday afternoon. Billy is a former Lowell boy, and he started on his successful career in this city just 10 years ago. Since that time he has toured the world. He will celebrate Thanksgiving day by thanking Manager Moore of the rink for looking him up so that he may again visit his Lowell relatives and friends, and incidentally show them what he has accomplished during his absence from the Sebastic City.

Carpenter will perform on Thursday afternoon and evening, Friday evening and Saturday afternoon and evening. Each evening Manager Moore will present a $250 gold piece to the person who gives the nearest estimate of the time Billy will spin around in his exhibition spinning stunts. This is one of the many tricks that he will perform. He holds the world's spinning record of 7 minutes. The admission during the exhibition will be ten cents with regular skating afternoon and evening.

LARRY DOYLE RECOVERS

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Larry Doyle, 37th second sacker, came word from his winter home in Jacksonville, Fla., that he has entirely recovered from his broken ankle and expects to be in the shape when the Cubs start their 1917 conditioning stunts.

YOUNG ZULU KID AND JIMMY WILDE TO BATTLE
FOR WORLD'S FLYWEIGHT TITLE IN LONDON

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Young Zulu Kid, the New York flyweight, who claims the American title, will meet Jimmy Wilde, the British champion and holder of the world's title at the London Sporting club on Dec. 11. The weight is to be at the flyweight limit, which is 112 pounds at 2 o'clock, and the distance will be twenty rounds. They are to fight for a purse of $5000, which will be divided 60 per cent to the winner and 40 per cent to the loser. All of England is crazy over the bout, and all those interested believe that the bout will draw a larger house than Ritchie and Welsh, Jack Collaghan, the promoter, has put up a special building for the fight, and his seating capacity will be 25,000. He will charge what in our money will be $1 to $20. Photo on left shows fighting pose of Wilde; one on right shows Young Zulu Kid.

WATERHEAD LEAGUE

In the Les Miserables league last evening the Riversides took four points from the Dodgers. E. Wood was high man with a single of 127 and a total of 214. Three interesting games were also played in the Waterhead league.

FOR GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The next national open championship of the United States Golf association will, in all probability, be played over the links of the White Marsh Valley Country club, near Philadelphia. This is indicated by the action of the executive committee of the Professional Golfers' association, which yesterday selected the Pennsylvania course. The United States Golf association turned over the selection of the three courses to be submitted at the annual meeting to the professional Games in the City Bowling league tonight are: Curly vs. Newton Mts. Co. at Boyd's; White Way vs. Kimball's at Kittredge's; Boyd's vs. the Highland Daylights at Highland alleys; Jewels vs. Crescents at Crescent.

SPORTING NEWS

Leo H. Leary, assistant coach of the Harvard football team, will be married this evening to Miss Alice H. McElroy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. McElroy of Providence, R. I.

The coming bout between Jack Dillon and Battling Leachway is creating as much interest as the bout decided at the Army A. A. Boston, a few weeks ago when Leachway clearly outclassed his opponent. It seems to be the general feeling that Dillon will this time reverse the decision.

Willie Kyronen, the little Finn who holds the Metropolitan cross country title and who is well known as a runner in this city, added another victory to his long list Sunday in the annual championship run of the Scandinavian American Athletic League. Kyronen traveled over the six mile course in Van Cortlandt park 31 seconds faster than he did when he won the A.A.U. championship eight days ago. He completed the distance Sunday in 22 minutes and 39 seconds. Hannes Kolet-mainen, who has also raced in this city, was at the starting point but he was barred from competition because he insisted upon representing the Finnish-American A. C. Kyronen, had 22 competitors and all but three finished.

Albert Nobes, Lowell's roller skater, and Harry Burke, the Bridgeport champ are still writing notes relative to a race to be pulled off here or elsewhere on Dec. 7, 8 and 9. Manager Moore to date has made the best offer for the match, and indications point to him landing it for his Rollerway rink. Both these skaters are among the best at the game and each is anxious to meet the other. The only argument now seems to be how large a side bet will go up. When this "little thing" is settled the two flyers will get to it.

BOWDOIN COLLEGE SCHEDULE

BRUNSWICK, Me., Nov. 28.—The Bowdoin college baseball and football schedules for 1917, announced today contain radical changes from those of past years. In the baseball schedule New Hampshire state and Exeter appear after a lapse of years. In the football, Tufts, Holy Cross, Middlebury and Fort McKinley are dropped and in their places are substituted Harvard, Trinity and West Point. The schedule is one game shorter than usual. Wesleyan comes to Maine for the first time and Trinity will play in Portland in mid-season instead of having the Portland game at the close of the Maine series.

INDIANS VS. FORT STRONG

The Indian football team, which won the championship from the Orioles last Saturday will play the Fort Strong team Thursday afternoon, Thanksgiving day, at Spalding park. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock. The Fort Strong eleven comes from Windsor and ranks with the best in the state. It has played a number of formidable teams this season and has set up a fine record. The team was organized several years ago, and last year scored a victory over the Indians in the final game of the season on the old Fair grounds by the score of 7 to 6. That game was one of the most fiercely contested football games ever played in Lowell. Both teams have made several changes in their lineups since that memorable battle, and each is confident of coming out on the long end of the score.

CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES IN SECRET SESSION

PARIS LOOKS FOR LONG SESSION
—QUESTIONS ON CONDUCT OF WAR

PARIS, Nov. 28, via London.—The chamber of deputies meets today in secret session for the second time since the beginning of the war. The first session was held from June 16 to June 22 of this year and ended in a vote of confidence in the government. The senate held a similar session a few days later and concluded its sitting in a similar way.

The session which begins today is certain to be a long one, as 41 interpellations are to be put to ministers and almost every question vital to the conduct of the war is to be raised. One of the chief subjects to be discussed will prove, it is expected, to be the general policy in the conduct of operations and the question of effectiveness. The latter problem was touched on in the chamber a short time ago when the war minister asked for authority to take a census of the class of 1918. The authority was granted after Premier Briand asked the deputies to refrain from discussion, which, he said, might endanger the military interests of the allies.

A meeting of the members of the British-American Social club was held last evening at the home of Mr. Booth in School street with Nell McN. Waters in the chair. In the course of the meeting considerable business was transacted and the organization voted to send $20 for the aid of blind soldiers in England.

Naturalization classes will be conducted at the Green school in Merrimack street beginning Dec. 6. The classes will be held for 13 evenings and will be under the supervision of Superintendent J. Mahoney of the school department, who will later assign teachers for the various evenings. The full program of the classes will be announced later.

ZEPPELINS WRECKED

ever, with the object of rendering other parts of the country safe. The success of the air patrols this morning has given the greatest satisfaction here.

Official reports do not say how many airships crossed the coast but apparently they were hampered and severely damaged. The Zeppelins apparently had difficulty in getting through the air, as well as being attacked by airplanes, that they were unable to do much damage. Lights were turned out in all the towns in the districts affected as soon as reports of the approach of airships were announced, and the commanders of the Zeppelins apparently had difficulty in locating them. A number of bombs were dropped, although no reports of damage in any towns have been received thus far.

One Zeppelin discharged her cargo of explosives in Yorkshire and Durham. She was attacked by airplanes and guns, and apparently damaged, but effected repairs after reaching the Norfolk coast and started for home at high speed and at a high altitude. Naval airplanes were awaiting her and with the aid of an armed trawler brought her down before she had gone many miles.

Great crowds, attracted by the prospect of the Zeppelins, gathered in the streets as they descended in flames.

The destruction of two Zeppelins in Monday night's raid on the northeast coast of England makes a total of two of the giant dirigibles which have been destroyed in the three latest attacks by German airships on British towns. On Sept. 4 a squadron of Zeppelins raided the eastern counties of England with London, according to the British official statement, their apparent objective. One of the airships again attempted to reach London, and this time two were victims of the British anti-aircraft guns in the neighborhood of the capital. The crew of one airship perished and the crew of the other, consisting of 22 men were captured. An official statement by the British war office stated that thirty persons were killed and 110 injured as the result of the bombs dropped by the raiders on this occasion. On Nov. 10 Petrograd reported that Russian troops near Plinsk on the eastern battle line, brought down a large Zeppelin and captured the crew of 16.

The first Zeppelin to meet with disaster in the English raids was the L-15 which was forced down in an attack on London on March 31 and captured in the Thames estuary. The airship sank while in tow of a British patrol boat. Prior to this, on Jan. 31, the L-19 was seen in the North sea in a sinking condition after a raid on England and is believed to have been damaged by the English coast batteries. After one of the early raids on England on Feb. 15, 1915, the Zeppelin L-3 was lost in a snowstorm and forced to land in Denmark, where she was burned by her crew, fourteen of whom were interned by the Danish authorities.

LATEST RAID FUTILE

LONDON, Nov. 28.—Reports from the north of England indicate that the latest raid by German airships was futile as far as the infliction of any damage was concerned. The military authorities in a number of towns gave warning of the approach of the raiders and all lights were promptly put out. In some places it was reported that the engines of the airships were heard overhead but no bombs were dropped. It is said that most of the bombs released by the raiders fell in fields in the rural districts.

Reports so far received from the northeast coast mention only two German airships as having been engaged in the raid. A telegram from an unnamed town says that the first raider arrived there at 12:30 and remained a short time, during which several bombs were dropped. Nobody was injured.

The second airship appeared ten minutes later and hovered over the town for a few minutes as if the commander was uncertain of his whereabouts. It then turned seaward and disappeared without dropping any bombs.

MATRIMONIAL

The marriage of Mr. Leo F. Flanagan and Miss Kathryn Frances Boyden took place Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Gate of Heaven church, South Boston, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Father Burns of that parish and formerly of St. Peter's church of this city. Mr. Flanagan, who is in the employ of the post office department in the railway mail service, and resident assigned to the Newport & Springfield R. P. O., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Flanagan of this city. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Boyden of South Boston. The bride wore a gown of white net over white silk and carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations. The bridesmaid was Miss Mary Dorothy Boyden, a sister of the bride, who wore a gown of white net over blue silk and carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums, both bouquets being the compliments of Mr. Harvey E. Green, of Lowell.

The best man was Mr. Paul C. Flanagan of this city, a brother of the groom. A reception was held at the home of the bride, where a wedding supper was also served, the tables being decorated with white chrysanthemums and roses. Mr. and Mrs. Flanagan after a short wedding trip, will reside at 9 Walker avenue, this city, and will be at home to friends after December 1st.

The bride and groom received many beautiful and costly gifts. Friends were present from Meriden, Conn., Uxbridge, R. I., Malden, Dorchester, Chelmsford and this city.

Cote—Lozeau

Elphège Cote and Miss Rose Lozeau were married this morning, the ceremony being performed at a private nuptial mass celebrated at St. Joseph's rectory at 7 o'clock by Rev. A. Amyot, O.M.I. The bride wore a blue traveling suit and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley. She was attended by her father, Philippe Lozeau, while the groom's witness was also his father, Leon Cote. At the close of the ceremony the bride party repaired to the home of the bride's parents, 5 Bowser st., where a wedding breakfast was served. Mr. and Mrs. Cote, who were the recipients of numerous gifts, left at 11 o'clock on a honeymoon trip to Taunton and other places. Upon their return Thursday evening they will be tendered a reception at the home of the groom's parents, 7 Dane avenue. They will make their home in Race street.

Lemire—Teller

A pretty wedding took place this morning in the private chapel of St. Joseph's rectory when Ernest Lemire and Miss Fleur Teller, two prominent young people of this city were united in the bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed at a nuptial mass celebrated at 8 o'clock by Rev. Augustin Gratton, O.M.I. The bride wore white crepe de chine trimmed with pearls and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. The couple were attended by their respective fathers, Ludwig Lemire and Narcisse P. Teller. At the close of the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, 236 White street. In attendance at the wedding from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. A. Lemire of Haverhill, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bandette of Cambridge and others. Mr. and Mrs. Lemire, who received numerous wedding gifts, left at 10 o'clock this forenoon for Washington and New York and upon their return they will make their home at 236 White street.

Giving Thanks

We are thankful for the peace and prosperity that has been this nation's. We are thankful that our sons, brothers and sweethearts are still with us. We are thankful that we have enough and to spare of life's necessities; and we are thankful that we can, in a small measure, alleviate the suffering of our sisters and brothers across the sea.

For our own personal blessings we give thanks; for the measure of prosperity that has been ours; for freedom of thought and action; for the many advantages that we enjoy.

Our business has shown a decided progress and growth during the past year; and we are thankful, that, though there has been a shortage of various materials, we have been able to serve our patrons with dependable merchandise of known worth.

FOR THE BENEFIT OF OUR PATRONS, WE WILL KEEP OUR STORE OPEN WEDNESDAY EVENING UNTIL 9.30

and Miss Inez A. J. Whiting was performed Nov. 26 at the Free church in Middlesex street, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Geo. E. Wright. The couple were unattended and upon their return from an extended wedding trip they will make their home at 154 Middlesex street.

Mahan—Brown

James P. Mahan and Miss Mary A. Brown were married late yesterday afternoon at the rectory of the Sacred Heart church by Rev. Bernard Fletcher, O.M.I. The best man was Joseph Mahan, brother of the bridegroom, while the bridesmaid was Miss Minnie O'Hare. The bride wore a travelling suit of dark blue chiffon broadcloth with picture hat to match and she carried bridal roses. The bridesmaid was attired in plum colored broadcloth with picture hat to match and carried American beauty roses. The couple left in the evening on an extended wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Rochester, N. Y., where they will be the guests of an uncle of the groom. After Jan. 1 they will be at home to their friends at 20 Manchester st.

Giffin—Loach

Luke Giffin and Miss Lillian Lynch were united in the bonds of matrimony Nov. 26 at St. Peter's rectory, the officiating clergyman being Rev. W. George Mullin. The bride was handsomely attired in a blue charmeuse trimmed with fur and she wore a picture hat and carried white chrysanthemums. She was attended by Mrs. Joseph Kennedy, who wore a blue charmeuse with black and white picture hat and carried yellow chrysanthemums. The best man was Joseph Kennedy. At the close of the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Joseph Kennedy, 15 Washington street. The couple left in the evening on an extended wedding trip and after Dec. 10 they will make their home in Chestnut street.

CHAS. E. HUGHES TO ENTER HIS OLD LAW FIRM

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Nov. 28.—Charles E. Hughes announced here last night that on January 1st he resumes the practice of law as a member of the New York City law firm of Rounds, Schurman & Dwight, No. 96 Broadway. His son, Charles E. Hughes, Jr., also will enter the firm, it was stated.

In 1906, when Mr. Hughes was nominated for governor of New York, he was a member of the same law firm, but its title at that time was Hughes, Rounds & Schurman. With Mr. Hughes again in the firm, its new name, it was announced, will be Hughes, Rounds, Schurman & Dwight.

Associated with Mr. Hughes and his son will be Arthur C. Rounds, George W. Schurman, Richard E. Dwight, Walter E. Carter, Raymond M. Lower, Martin J. Keogh, Jr., Augustus L. Richards and Harvey L. Stowell.

TWENTY HURT IN RACE RIOT AT WORCESTER

WORCESTER, Nov. 28.—All the reserve patrolmen in this city had to be called out last night to quell a riot which started when 200 members of the Armenian and Turkish colonies clashed at Summer and Union sts.

For almost an hour the men battled back and forth about the corner, brandishing all manner of weapons. Several shots were fired. When the riot ended 20 persons were under arrest and about as many more under treatment in the central police station and the Worcester hospital.

The trouble started as the result of an attack Sunday night upon an Armenian.

TOO MANY "KIDS" IN CITY COUNCIL

BROCKTON, Nov. 28.—The community is aroused over charges by George W. Alden, president of the Brockton chamber of commerce, that Brockton is electing too many "kids" to the city council and that these "kids" are spending the city's money, although they are inexperienced in business matters. Mr. Alden's charges were made in an address before the Abington board of trade last week.

Members of the council, learning of Mr. Alden's remarks, were much displeased. Mr. Alden, far from retracting his statements, came out stronger than ever and asserted that a young man voting on big appropriation bills did not realize his own incapacity.

Dr. Charles S. Bragdon, a former progressive candidate for mayor, came out yesterday as a champion of the "kids."

"I have served four years in the city council," he said, "and my experience leads me to say that the young man in city hall is not a menace to good government, is not apt to support dangerous legislation, and is not more than any other, responsible for high tax rates."

THE DEUTSCHLAND CARGO SELLS SLOWLY

BRIDGEPORT, Nov. 28.—America has cast off its dependency upon Germany for dyestuffs, and half the Deutschland's first consignment still lies unsold in Baltimore warehouses, according to an expert connected with one of the largest dye-manufacturing concerns in the country.

With the expiration of some German patents, several months ago, according to this authority, American concerns had free rein in experimenting, and a base produce as good as that for which Americans depended upon Germany is now being sold at $1.00 a pound.

The stuff brought by the Deutschland on its first trip was selling for $4.00 a pound when a market could be obtained.

Gossip among dye makers, says this authority, is that many New York concerns are buying alleged German dyes bearing German lettering and sold as part of the Deutschland's cargo, which never was out of America.

COAL BARGE LOST

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—The loss of barge No. 192 in the coal carrying service of the Lehigh Valley Transportation Co., was reported here today by Capt. McGoldrick of the tug Lehigh which had the barge in tow and which made a hazardous rescue of the crew. Mrs. Benjamin Gillis, wife of the captain of the barge, was taken aboard the tug from a skiff, after which the tug was maneuvered alongside the foundering barge so that it was possible for the captain and three men to jump onto the tug's deck.

The barge went down off Horton's Point on the Long Island shore during a heavy gale Friday night. She carried a cargo of six tons of anthracite coal consigned from Perth Amboy for Portsmouth, N. H.

FEDERAL BOARD'S WARNING

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—It became known today that the federal reserve board's action in issuing a warning to American banks regarding an overloading of European short-term notes had been discussed by the board with Secretary Lansing, who advised that the matter could not be regarded as other than a purely domestic one and that the only consideration was the internal needs of the country.

As it was appreciated that that action might be misconstrued the board's announcement was very carefully written to state that "the board disclaims any intention of discussing the financial stability of any nation, but wishes it understood that it seeks to deal only with general principles which affect all alike."

FEDERAL CONTROL OF FOOD SUPPLY

When congress takes up the great railroad question, it will probably have to deal with another question of equal importance to the people, to wit, the regulation of the food supply of the country. This can be controlled only through the agencies of interstate commerce which the states individually cannot control. The federal government will, therefore, have to deal with this matter in a manner that will protect the people against the evils of monopolies and the operations of speculators by which the food supply of the country is cornered and prices put up to figures that cost the public countless millions of dollars. Every state is careful to guard against evils of this kind originating in the other states but not all are so particular about the character of the organizations they themselves send out to do business all over the country. New Jersey, for example, was at one time dubbed the mother of trusts because she allowed such facilities for their incorporation and imposed so little restriction on their operations. Some of the most outrageous combines for swindling the public were thus set afloat and even fostered by individual states. The other states could not stop them. Neither could the federal government unless some violation of the Sherman anti-trust law could be shown. Thus they were almost unrestrained in their iniquities until the federal trade commission came to take them in hand and quietly advise those that were not conforming to the spirit of the law to get out of business.

But new problems have arisen in the control of the food supply and problems that must be met with radical action if we are to avert a famine. The federal government must control the railroads so as to protect them from harassment by the states. So must it have supervision over the food supply to guard against any attempt to corner it or hold it locked in cold storage plants to await higher prices. The states are wholly powerless to apply a remedy to meet the whole situation. That should be made the duty of some federal body whose powers would be co-ordinate with those of the interstate commerce commission. This is another most momentous question awaiting decision by congress and one on the proper settlement of which depends the reduction of the high cost of living.

Already some states have held investigations of the food problem, but such proceedings apply only to local conditions, while the disease is national. A new light is dawning upon the people in regard to the real causes of many evils and the remedies that suggest themselves as self evident are federal investigation and control.

OUR AMERICAN DYES

It is alleged that American dyes are being produced equal to the German article for textile fabrics. That may or may not be true; but most people will doubt the statement although it apparently comes from a high authority.

Our local textile school has been conducting experiments in producing dye stuffs for textiles and the officials have announced that the results have been very successful, the chief desideratum now being to manufacture the dyes and put them on the market. It is estimated that 50,000,000 pounds of aniline dyes will be made in this country the coming year and that hereafter the United States will lead the world in the production of fabrics and colors. It is to be hoped that the Lowell Textile school, the best institution of its kind in the world, with a first class chemical and dyeing department, will produce something in this line that will make it still more famous and bring added prestige to Lowell as a pioneer in the textile business.

It is said that the American dyes thus far produced for leather do not seem to meet the requirements or to be of much value. German dyes that were selling at 55 cents a pound before the war now bring six dollars a pound. That is part of the reason why the price of shoes is going up, but it is only one of many causes that are too well known.

END OF WAR NOT IN SIGHT

Early this year most people thought the close of the war was in sight, but the present situation seems to put the conclusion further off than ever. If the struggle is to be kept up until the powers on either side be completely crushed, it is not likely to terminate for another year or perhaps for two years.

The entrance of Rumania to the war gave the entente allies a great opportunity to cut the German line of communication with Bulgaria and Turkey; but they did not act quickly enough and hence the German forces are now closing in on Bucharest, the Rumanian capital, and the allies cannot stop them.

There will be as hard fighting in Rumania as has been seen in Galicia or on the western front, before the war can assume any aspect of peace.

There must be a crushing defeat of the allies or else their complete exhaustion before they will consent to consider peace proposals. The revival of the submarine warfare in its worst form and the action of Germany in compelling the citizens of the conquered territory to leave their homes and work in her industries and even in her munition factories, is worse, if possible, than the original crime against Belgium for which the allies entered the war.

A VICIOUS PROPAGANDA

District Attorney Pelletier of Boston need not worry over the opposition he has met in prosecuting a young man for being engaged in a propaganda that would spread broadcast before young and old throughout the land literature that is obscene, indecent, impure and manifestly tending to corrupt the morals of the young as well as to promote race suicide in order to avoid the care and expense of bringing up children.

This propaganda is put forth as a means of overcoming the poverty that sometimes results from the large families of the poor; but the fault lies with society not with the laws of God and nature. If race suicide becomes more general and immigration be stopped, this nation instead of continuing to grow and prosper would pass into a state of decay and eventually vanish from the earth just as did others that became mere agencies for subverting the fundamental laws of morality. Fortunately there is, we believe, no substantial part of the people of this country in favor of such a Malthusian idea.

THE AVIATOR IN WAR

It is one of the wonders of the war that so many young Americans enlist for the very dangerous duty of aviators in the service of France. Already many have been killed but this does not seem to deter others from taking the risks which are daily becoming more serious as the belligerents are steadily increasing the number of their air craft.

Battles in the air are of frequent occurrence and are nearly always attended by the descent to death of some of those engaged. Some of our American aviators have won the highest honors in this service.

CAMPAIGN DEFICIT

The democratic national committee has to meet a deficit in the expenses of the recent campaign amounting to $200,000. It should have no difficulty in making up this amount. The expenditures were all made necessary to fight the false claims and canards of the republicans especially those issued at the eleventh hour. The campaign conducted by Messrs. McCormick and Wooley will stand for many years unrivaled in point of tact, good judgment and crushing blows. Even Roosevelt was ridiculed to a frazzle. The deficit should be made up forthwith.

THE EGG BOYCOTT

The egg boycott in New York might well be extended if such a move would help to beat the speculators who are keeping the eggs aging in cold storage. The trouble is that a boycott is quite as necessary on many other articles of food but to deal with more than one at a time in the boycott line would be too great a tax upon the demands of the system.

OUR POPULATION

The federal census bureau has just reported that its estimate of the total population of this country is 102,826,265, or with outlying possessions 113,205,285. The population of Massachusetts is 2,747,564 and in point of numbers it is the sixth largest state in the Union.

The California vote stands solidly for Wilson, so does that of New Hampshire and New Mexico. It would be well to inform some republicans that the election is over and the republican party again in the lull.

The operations of German submalines on this side of the Atlantic may help to restrict the export of wheat and other food stuffs. It's an ill wind, etc.

Seen and Heard

There's no success at all without a great bunch of routine.

No matter what you dream there's generally small chance of its coming true.

There are many strange methods now-a-days to induce you to grab salvation.

No man can tell exactly who'll be sitting around his death-bed when the time comes.

Almost anybody is ready to inform you why you should have done the very thing you didn't do.

About the happiest chap in the world probably is the fellow to whom nobody pays any attention.

The banker says, "Save your money." The business man says, "Spend it with me!"—and what are you going to do?

Sometimes somebody else has to tell you when you are right, and almost everybody will trip you when you're off-color.

The world always calls a young man an "upstart" who does something big that the world didn't expect him to do.

Man in Maiden accused of stealing a saw and carrying it four miles to his home said he did it for a joke. The judge fined him $10 for carrying the joke too far.

A Poor Press Agent

Max O'Rell was exceedingly popular as a lecturer, and the way in which his mother viewed the suggestion that her son should take to the platform is worth repetition. She wrote to him from the native village which she had

BEST FOR LIVER, BOWELS, STOMACH, HEADACHE, COLDS

They live the liver and bowels and straighten you right up.

Don't be bilious, constipated, sick, with breath bad and stomach sour.

Tonight sure! Take Cascarets and enjoy the most, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. Wake up with your head clear, stomach sweet, breath right and feeling fine. Get rid of sick headache, biliousness, constipation, furred tongue, sour stomach, bad colds. Clear your skin, brighten your eyes, quicken your step and feel like doing a full day's work. Cascarets are better than salts, pills or cathartics because they don't shock the liver or gripe the bowels or cause inconvenience all the next day.

Mothers should give cross, sick, bilious, feverish children a whole Cascarets anytime as they can not improve the thirty feet of tender bowels.

never left for more than a day to say that she did not think appearing before audiences to be reputable business, and when he replied that he had decided to do it and had signed a contract to that effect the dear old lady wrote back that she was "still" his loving mother and that she would tell no one in the village about it.

The Three Lads

Down the road rides a German lad,
Into the distance gray;
Straight toward the north as a bullet flies,
The dusky north, with its cold, sad skies;
But the song that he sings is merry and glad,
For he's off to the war and away—
Then hey! for our righteous king!
And the good old God in his good old skies!

And he's off to the war and away—
Then hey! for our righteous king!
And the good old God in his good old skies!
For I'm off to the war and away—
Down the road rides a Russian lad,
Into the distance gray;
Out toward the glare of the steppes he spurs,
And hears the wolves in the southern firs;
But the song that he sings is blithe and glad,
For he's off to the war and away—
Then hey! for our noble czar! (he cries),
And liberty that never dies!

And he's off to the war and away—
Then hey! for our noble czar! (he cries),
And liberty that never dies!
For I'm off to the war and away—
Down the road rides an English lad,
Into the distance gray;
Through the murk and fog of the river's breath,
Through the dark, dark night herides to his death,
But the song that he sings is gay and glad,
For he's off to the war and away—
Then hey! for truth, and down with the lie!
And he's off to the war and away—
For I'm off to the war and away!"

Lowell Lady Had Immediate Relief

Miss Eva Perrault, of 40 Graham St., Surprised at the Results From Plant Juice

The benefits of good health are obvious to all. The value of a "sound mind in a sound body" needs no interpretation to people of education and understanding. It is only necessary to show them how this healthy condition may be obtained and preserved. No extravagant claims are made for Plant Juice, the new herbal stomach remedy, now being introduced here, but that it will restore your system to a state of perfect health, if suffering from stomach, liver, kidney trouble or rheumatism, is backed up by the statements of well known local people in signed testimonials, who have used this preparation and are now loud in praise thereof.

Take for instance, the signed statement of Miss Eva Perrault, of No. 40 Graham Street, who has lived in this city all of her life, and has hosts of friends. She said:

"For two years I have been troubled with catarrh of the head and stomach. It seemed as if my head would fall off at times. I was so bad, and the phlegm would drop from my throat, causing me to be very sick at my stomach, and so dizzy. I could hardly stand on my feet. I was so nervous I could not sleep, at night my tongue was coated, and I would often faint away from weakness. I had tried many medicines, but none of them did me the least good, until I began to take Plant Juice. The first dose seemed to give me some relief and now since I have taken it for several weeks, I am feeling the best I have ever felt. I am surprised at the wonderful result I have had from Plant Juice and am glad to recommend it to others."

There are numerous symptoms of this trouble that Plant Juice can relieve. In fact, any one of the following may denote a condition of the stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia, vomiting of wind, bad breath, sick throbbing headaches, poor circulation, night sweats, that tired feeling, constipation, a coated tongue or poor complexion.

The Plant Juice Man is at Down's, the Druggists in Merrimack Square, where he is daily meeting the local public, and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

FAMILY DOCTOR'S GOOD ADVICE

To Go On Taking "Fruit-a-lives" Because They Did Her Good

ROCKTON, JAN. 14th, 1915.

"I suffered for many years with terrible indigestion and constipation. I had frequent dizzy spells and became greatly run down. A neighbor advised me to try 'Fruit-a-lives'. I did so and to the surprise of my doctor, I began to improve, and he advised me to go on with 'Fruit-a-lives'."

I consider that I owe my life to 'Fruit-a-lives' and I want to say to those who suffer from Indigestion, Constipation or Headaches—try 'Fruit-a-lives' and you will get well. CORINE GAUDREAU, 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ogdensburg, N.Y.

A number of our "schoolmarm" were bitten on a "get something for nothing" scheme recently. There was a nice advertisement of an easy way to get a fine petticoat, so word was passed from one teacher to another. All you had to do was to send the name of five other persons and the small sum of 10 cents to the company and they would return you about the best undershirt you ever saw. Well, a number of our teachers fulfilled these requirements, so 'tis stated, but Uncle Sam was busy in the meantime and the head of the concern was placed under arrest for an attempt to defraud through the mails. And the teachers are bewailing their misfortune.—Middleboro Gazette.

Escaped Sentence

Police court spectators that morning included one who was there for the first time, a woman past 60, unfamiliar with the machinery of the law, court officials or criminal types. Visualize the scene. The judge sat on high, a step lower was the clerk and within the enclosure defined by stout oak barriers were lawyers. In the rear, spectators seats, at the right "the dock," with uniform policemen sprinkled about; at the left a row of seats for witnesses, with more policemen.

Two attorneys arise, C. Harold Porter and A. L. E. Gettings, and have their paths as they leave the court room.

The woman follows. In the corridor she accosted the lawyers. "I'm so glad they let you go," she assured them. "It's my first visit to a court. I was curious to see what kind of people are arrested and sentenced and I was so surprised to see so many well-dressed and nice looking men inside the railing where they keep the prisoners. How did they happen to let you go?"

"Porter and Rich chuckled. "Because we are merely lawyers," they told her.—Brookton Daily Enterprise.

They Do Say

That pastries took another boost in prices yesterday.

That Vermont turkey is a luxury for the rich this year.

That the Lowell Eagles are out to double their membership.

That football is all right in cold weather—for the players.

That there are many Thanksgivings eve weddings scheduled.

That the Sixth regiment may get a chance to see the border line yet.

That Billy Sunday was too busy to see the committee from Lowell.

That Lowell dealers are keen for an automobile show in this city.

That the high cost of living won't be an issue in the municipal campaign.

That the local celebration of the Oblique centennial will be a great event.

That on these cold mornings pedestrians walk on the sunny side of the street.

That the seagulls are quite numerous in the vicinity of the Alken street bridge.

That there are but 21 shopping days left before Christmas; do your shopping early.

That they are still crowding the cars on the Chelmsford Centre line as of yore.

That Mayor O'Donnell is never without a suggestion to help a good cause along.

That four weeks from today it will be time to start in saving for Christmas of 1917.

That it is all right to say "keep smiling," but sometimes it is pretty hard to do it.

That the deer at Fort Hill park will initiate the cave men during the winter months.

That the firemen's concert and ball at the armory Wednesday evening will be worth while.

That the way to get square with the speculation is to eat out turkey on Thanksgiving day.

That John F. Golden says St. Patrick's alumni banquet in December will be the best ever.

That the boys from the border will introduce some Mexican dances at their coming party.

That the firemen have been kept busy extinguishing grass fires during the past several days.

That the number of turkeys sold this Thanksgiving will be much smaller than in previous years.

That County Commissioner Barlow was one of the few lucky men to get a deer during the open season.

That everyone should be particularly careful not to start a fire during the firemen's ball tomorrow evening.

That sometimes the 15 cent dinner is more nourishing and less distracting than that for which you pay 50 cents.

That even though there are a score of bowling alleys in Lowell all seem to be very well patronized, especially at night.

That the cold weather is responsible in no small measure for the increased attendances at the local moving picture houses.

That it's pretty tough to read of millions of pounds of meat being shipped to Europe while the price still continues to soar at home.

THANKSGIVING MESSAGE BY GOV. STRONG

Special to The Sun

STATE HOUSE, BOSTON, Nov. 28.—Now that Thanksgiving is drawing near, it might be well for us to look back and see how our Massachusetts governor, whose administration came during the time of war, felt towards the contending nations, and to see if we should not pray and be thankful for the same things for which he was wishing.

Following is a portion of Gov. Caleb Strong's Thanksgiving message to the people of this state in the year 1814, when Dec. 1 was set apart for a day of Thanksgiving and praise. "But while we thankfully celebrate the goodness of God to ourselves and others, it becomes us with deep contrition to humble ourselves before Him for our multiplied transgressions and the tokens of His righteous anger in still afflicting us with the calamities of a distressing war, which threatens to impoverish our country and by which the lives and many of our fellow citizens have been destroyed, and numerous widows and fatherless children have been made miserable; and to beseech Him that with deep humility we may accept the punishment of our iniquities and patiently bear His indignation because we have sinned against Him; and that by the gloomy prospect before us we may be led to place our unfeigned reliance on Him who rules in the Kingdom of men and whose favor and protection are the only sure means of our safety. "That the rulers of both the contending nations may be disposed to cherish friendly sentiments and establish peace upon just and equitable terms."

SLEEPYTIME TALES

THE GNOMES' NUT BOATS

Once upon a time, you remember the Gnomes used the doc's drinking pan for a skating rink and then for a coasting place. They went up to Rollo's house one day to slide and found that the warm sun had melted the ice and carried away and there was nothing but water in the pan. "We must make some use of it now that we are here," said Tiny Tim and I'll tell you what we will do. We will go boating." What shall we use for boats? asked another gnome. To get ahead of him, he did not have to work at all, but just stood still and held the sail which carried him swiftly across the pond and across the line a winner before the others had reached the middle of the pond.

When the other gnomes saw what a success Tiny Tim's sail was, of course they all wanted one and there was a lot of tearing of cloth and finding of straws in Rollo's house, so that it took the big dog out of his afternoon's nap and made him quite cross for a minute, until the Gnomes told him what they were doing. Soon the pond was covered with the little sail boats and the Gnomes had the very best time they had had all winter.

The others didn't know what he was up to until he started in a race, and then, while they were rowing hard to get ahead of him, he did not have to work at all, but just stood still and held the sail which carried him swiftly across the pond and across the line a winner before the others had reached the middle of the pond.

LIVING ON FORTY CENTS A DAY AGREES WITH CHICAGO DIET SQUAD

The "diet squad" of Chicago, conducted by Health Commissioner Robertson, after four days of living on a menu limited to 40 cents a day, was weighed and showed an average gain of five pounds.

Six of the twelve showed gains in weight despite the restricted diet. Two were unchanged while the losses, except in the case of Dr. A. J. Stokes, the heavyweight of the squad, all were under one pound each. Dr. Stokes, who weighed 223½ pounds before undertaking the experiment, has lost 2½ pounds. The greatest gain was by Berghild Halvorsen, who began with 148½ pounds and has acquired 2½ pounds additional flesh. The squad's big meal of the week consisted of unlimited quantities of julienne soup, corned pork, glazed sweet potatoes, celery, pumpkin pie.

"That meal tasted as if it cost $40 instead of less than 40 cents," exclaimed Henry Gehring, Jr., one of the squad, as he pushed back his chair at the conclusion of the meal and loosened his belt. Picture shows Dr. Robertson addressing members of the squad.

WHAT HORTENSE TOLD ME

The amount of food required for almost sure to have large pores, as the woman who would be beautiful, left open they will spread and fill habits. Those who have a lot of physical exercise will require more food than those who lead comparatively idle lives. When the organs of the body are stimulated by hard work they can easily digest large quantities of substantial food. Those who have very little exercise should eat as much as they desire at a meal. One requires only enough food to provide for the amount of energy expended and not enough to overtax the digestive organs.

To fatten a thin face, Hortense says, if you have the time and money, go to a skilful masseuse and have her treat your face and use a good massage cream. Cleanse the face every night with a cleansing cream. Apply it to the face and throat with the tips of the fingers and wipe it off at once with a soft towel. Then massage the face for ten minutes with a massage cream. In the morning dampen a portion of a towel with toilet water and wipe the face with it. Use no other water on the face. Take a hot tub bath daily, use good soap and scrub the entire body from the chin down to the toes.

Large pores on the face skin will surely result, thinks Hortense, if you wash your face in hot water and do not dash it with cold water. If you do not take this precaution you are almost sure to have large pores, as the hot water opens them up and if left open they will spread and fill habits. Those who have a lot of physical exercise will require more food than those who lead comparatively idle lives. When the organs of the body are stimulated by hard work they can easily digest large quantities of substantial food. Those who have very little exercise should eat as much as they desire at a meal. One requires only enough food to provide for the amount of energy expended and not enough to overtax the digestive organs.

There is nothing so fatal to beauty as sleepless nights. Hortense made me, when I was so troubled, give up tea and coffee entirely. Water and milk must form the drink from now on, she said. If possible, all mental work must be laid aside for a few hours before going to bed. Do not have any amusement that will excite

Every particle of dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Draw a moist cloth through hair and double its beauty at once.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, shiny, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any druggist or toilet counter, and just try it.

Save your hair. Beautify it! You will say this was the best 25 cents you ever spent.

the nerves. The things that you can do to induce sleep are many. Take plenty of brisk exercise in the open air. Before retiring take a hot foot bath. This will draw the blood away from the brain, which is a necessary condition for sleep. A cold douche on the spine is another method that you can give with a bath spray. General baths should be warm. Sleeping rooms should be well ventilated and cool. Do not eat immediately before retiring. A glass of warm milk will overcome insomnia after other suggestions have failed.

Many women, says Hortense, particularly those who do their own work, find it hard to keep their hands soft and white. Be sure to remove all stains of fruits, paints, and so on, as soon as you can. Take a little time each night to clean and soften the skin. Any good cold cream will do this. Hortense gives the following recipe: Put into a bottle 2 ounces of glycerine, 2 ounces of rose water, 4 table-spoons lemon juice and a few drops of carbolic acid. Shake well. After washing and drying the hands, rub a little of the mixture into them.

Hortense says if you have blackheads the green soap preparation should be applied every other night. Rub it on gently with a sponge or absorbent cotton and let it remain on for about three minutes, then bathe the face with hot water, dry and use the toilet water. The alternate nights use the cleansing cream to cleanse the face, and the toilet water in the morning. If this does not empty the pores then after using the green soap and hot water you can press out the contents with a little instrument that comes for that purpose. Never squeeze them out with the fingers. This method will gradually reduce the pores.

For blackheads use green soap (imported), 1 oz.; water, 3 ozs. For the cleansing cream use cream, 4 ozs.; white wax, 1 oz.; white vaseline, 1 oz.; oil of violets, 8 drops. For the toilet water use elder-flower water, 2 ozs.; distilled water, 2 ozs.

Merriment causes a frequent movement of the eyelids up and down, and it is the function of the eyelid to release a tear each time it comes down. The repetition has the effect of covering the eye with considerable moisture. The light shining on this moisture gives the sparkling effect. The eyes should be washed, says Hortense, after a dusty journey for they get dirty just as the rest of the face does. An eye cup is required for this purpose. Having learned to use it, you will never again neglect this part of your toilet.

For a red, rough face, do not use soap or water on the face. Cleanse the face at night with a cleansing cream; in the morning with witch hazel. Dampen a corner of a towel and wipe the face then use a good face powder. Massage the hands and arms to improve the circulation and your hands will be warmer. At night bathe the hands in tepid water, then rub them with witch hazel and glycerine three ounces of witch hazel and one ounce of glycerine. Always dry the hands thoroughly. For red spots on the face before retiring apply the cleansing cream all over the face and throat with the tips of the fingers, then wipe it off at once with a soft towel. Thereafter bathe the face with hot water, dry the face and apply the lotion, leave on over night. In the morning use cleansing cream, then a good face powder.

Massaging the scalp is all wrong, so thinks Hortense, and tonics should never be rubbed in. The hair should be parted, the ends dropped on the scalp and the head gently pressed with the finger tips until the liquid has been absorbed. Before applying a tonic the hair should be carefully combed. After the hair is quite dry again comb any possible tangles out, then part the hair and braid loosely, tying at the ends so it will remain braided during the night, thus avoiding unnecessary tangles in the morning. A wide toothed comb is best and a soft brush when one must be used to smooth the hair. The softer the texture of the hair the more gently it should be handled. A comb run over the scalp in the ordinary run and morning combing is all the friction any healthy scalp will ever require.

Biting the fingernails is far too common a fault among nervous women, says Hortense. The constant wetting with the saliva so weakens and softens the nail that it has not strength enough to grow properly, sometimes even crumbling up. The quickest cure is to paint the end of each finger with liquid quinine. It will be harmless to the finger. With this liquid quinine on the nails every day it will not be more than a few weeks before the inclination to bite them will disappear.

Salt is a simple but infallible remedy for constipation. It should be taken, a half teaspoon in a cup of boiling water, half an hour before each meal. Practice the following exercises for ten minutes every day, so that your abdominal muscles will be toned up and invigorated to do their part against tolerating such a condition again. Sit upright in a straight-backed chair with knees together. Turn the trunk to the left and bend from the waist so that the hands touch the floor. Then raise the body and repeat on the right side.

SEQUEL TO JOY RIDE HEARD IN POLICE COURT

Four young men who do not bear the best reputation, but who are sons of respectable people, were arraigned before Judge Enright in police court this morning on a complaint charging them with the larceny of an automobile belonging to Charles J. Mr. Crowley to the extent of $81 for damages done to the machine.

According to the testimony offered by Sergt. David Petrie the four young men entered the garage about two o'clock in the morning, took the machine out and started along the Boston road towards Billerica. Before leaving Billerica they met with an accident and abandoned the machine. Owing to the fact that Mr. Crowley did not care about pressing the matter, if they would make good his loss, each was given a suspended sentence to the reformatory.

HUNTERS KILL 832 DEER IN BAY STATE

Incomplete returns from Massachusetts hunters show that 832 deer were killed during the open season last week, as against 1105 in the corresponding period of 1915.

The fish and game commission expects to receive reports of additional killings, but no great increase in the year's figure is anticipated. Of the animals killed this year, 535 were bucks and 297 were does.

The record by days for last week is as follows: Monday, 191 bucks, 53 does; Tuesday, 106 bucks and 70 does; Wednesday, 52 bucks, 48 does; Thursday, 64 bucks, 34 does; Friday, 50 bucks, 42 does; Saturday, 31 bucks, 14 does.

A number of Lowell men were successful in their quest for deer. Sergt. Samuel Blewett of the police department and Ralph Splaney of this city, together with Benjamin H. Joslin of South Lyndeboro, N. H., comprised a party of five which has just returned from a hunt in the vicinity of Pittsburg, N. H., near the Canadian line. Five deer were secured by the party, two by each of the Lowell men. County Commissioner Barlow also annexed a deer somewhere within the confines of the state; a 240-pound buck was shot in Tyngsboro and another weighing 155 pounds, dressed, was bagged at Johnson's corner on the Nashua line.

WARNS BANKS AGAINST LOANS TO THE ALLIES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—American bankers were warned by the federal reserve board yesterday to avoid locking up their funds by purchasing treasury bills of foreign governments. While specifically disclaiming "any intention of reflecting upon the financial stability of any nation," the board advised all investors to proceed with caution, and formally announced to member banks of the federal reserve system that with the liquid funds which should be available to American merchants, manufacturers and farmers, in danger of being absorbed for other purposes, it does not regard it in the interests of the country at this time that they invest in foreign treasury bills of this character.

Answer to Morgan's proposals

The statement is regarded in official circles as one of the most important declarations by the board since its creation. Officials would not discuss the question for publication, but some of them informally interpreted the warning as the reserve board's answer to the recent proposal of J. P. Morgan & Co., British fiscal agents in this country, to have American bankers accept British treasury bills of an indefinite total issue, secured by gold reserves held in Ottawa. Such loans would be for 90 days, with the privilege of renewal for five other 90-day periods.

When Gold Becomes a Menace

H. P. Davison of the Morgan firm was in Washington recently and conferred with President Wilson and some members of the reserve board. It was said later that he sought to have banks of the reserve system authorized to buy British treasury bills as if they were bills of exchange to cover commercial transactions.

Danger from further importation of large amounts of gold, the board says in its statement, will arise only in case the gold is permitted to become the basis of undesirable loan expansions and of inflation. Emphasis is laid upon the necessity of caution in putting money into investments which are short term in name, but which, either by contract or through force of circumstances may in the aggregate have to be renewed until normal conditions return.

Text of Board's Warning

The board's warning, in the form of a statement to be published later in the Federal Reserve Bulletin, follows:

"In view of contradictory reports which have appeared in the press regarding its attitude toward the purchasing by banks in this country of treasury bills of foreign governments, the board deems it a duty to define its position clearly. In making this statement the board desires to disclaim any intention of discussing the finances or of reflecting upon the financial stability of any nation, but wishes it understood that it seeks to deal only with general principles which affect all alike.

"The board does not share the view frequently expressed of late, that further importations of large amounts of gold must of necessity prove a source of danger or disturbance to this country. That danger, the board believes, will arise only in case the inflowing gold should remain uncontrolled and be permitted to become the basis of undesirable loan expansions and of inflation.

ation of strength and independence. While it is true that a slowing down in the process of credit extension may mean some curtailment of our abnormally stimulated export trade to certain countries, we need not fear that our business will fall off precipitately should we become more constructive in the matter of investing in loans, because there are still hundreds of millions of our own and foreign securities held abroad which our investors would be glad to take over, and moreover, trade can be stimulated in other directions.

America First Doctrine

"In the opinion of the board, it is the duty of our banks to remain liquid in order that they may be able to continue to respond to our home requirements, the nature and scope of which none can foresee, and in order that our present economic and financial strength may be maintained when at the end of the war, we shall wish to do our full share in the work of international reconstruction and development which will then be ahead of us, and when a clearer understanding of economic conditions as they will then exist, will enable this country more safely and intelligently to direct its policy in the financial rehabilitation of the world."

TO SOAR OVER NORTH POLE IN AIRSHIPS

AMBITION OF ROALD AMUNDSEN, THE NORWEGIAN EXPLORER, NOW IN AMERICA

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—To soar over the North Pole in a hydro-aeroplane is the ambition of Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian explorer, who a few years ago attained the South Pole. Captain Amundsen arrived here yesterday from Copenhagen to purchase two hydro-aeroplanes for that purpose. Starting in the summer of 1918, he said, he expects to be in the north from three to five years. The main object of his flight, Captain Amundsen declared, would be to study the air currents around the pole.

"I shall follow the coast of Siberia until the ice breaks up, and then drift toward the pole," said Captain Amundsen. "The dogs should take us to a point somewhere between Spitzbergen and Greenland, after we have made an almost complete circle of the top of the globe. I hope to be within 100 miles, or 150 at the farthest, when I leave the ship. Then will follow the dash by hydro-aeroplane or sealo." "I care nothing for the mere accomplishment of reaching the North Pole. That feat already has been achieved, and it has resulted in little or no practical good to anybody. But it has revived the northernmost regions. I can soar in a hydro-aeroplane I propose to make a study of air currents high above the pole.

"At the same time my party will take observations of the currents far below the surface of the water in the Arctic basin. Thus a comparison of the currents, high and low, will be possible, and this, I believe, will be of value to science."

CALLS PRESENT GOVERNMENT THE NEAREST PERFECT IN WORLD TODAY—SPOKE AT WORCESTER

WORCESTER, Nov. 28.—William Jennings Bryan intends to remain active in politics for many years to come. Speaking here last night in the Hotel Worcester at the 13th annual dinner of the Worcester Economic club, he indignantly denied the truth of reports that he was to retire from politics.

"I have no thought of retiring," he said. "I want to live 20 more years of active politics. I am still a young man and rejoice in my youth and experience. And after all, what is there for a democrat to live for if he cannot rejoice in expectancy?"

The address of Mr. Bryan's address was "Franklin Avenue," he declared, the main relation to government, to society and to God.

This government, Mr. Bryan declared, was the nearest perfect in the world today and of questioning the patriotism of our citizens, such a thing was absurd, he said.

"It is no reflection on the patriotism of the people for some to try and settle differences of countries by reason and argument and not by force," he asserted. "There never was a time when there was more satisfaction than now, in a peaceful and untroubled world, in our country being attacked and you will have as large an army as is wanted."

MR. PATTEN RESIGNS

Chairman of Tewksbury School Board Is Too Busy to Attend to School Matters

Wilbur A. Patten, chairman of the Tewksbury school board for the past eight years, has resigned his position. When questioned by a reporter in regard to his resignation, Mr. Patten said he has held the position for the past eight years and he thinks that is sufficient. One of his main reasons for resigning is that he is kept very busy with his business and cannot devote the necessary time to the school department. Mr. Patten was to serve another year, but his resignation will be appointed by the school board, and at the annual town meeting the voters will be requested to ballot for a member of the board for the remainder of Mr. Patten's term.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

There was a large attendance at the regular meeting of Division 8, A.O.H. last night. E. J. Flannery presided and at the regular business session 42 applications for membership were received. There is a large increase among the members for the $25 in gold of gold in prizes in the membership contest. At the next meeting of the division the election of officers will take place. All members are requested to meet in A.O.H. hall Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. They will then march in a body to the Sacred Heart church to attend the memorial mass for the heroes of the battle of the Irish martyrs.

Evening Star Benevolent Lodge

Evening Star Benevolent Lodge, 30, Broadway, celebrated its 10th anniversary last night at the Odd Fellows Temple in Middlebury street. District Deputy President, Amie E. # HEADLESS BODY OF MAN FOUND IN WOOD LOT

The headless body of an unknown man was discovered in a wood lot between the Groton and Dunstable roads in North Chelmsford yesterday afternoon by Selman D. Frank Smith. He had been notified by people who had found the body in the wood lot on the Groton road that they had seen two dogs playing with a human skull. Mr. Smith went to the scene and after a careful search found the headless body. At first it was thought that foul play might have been committed, but it is the general opinion that the dogs separated the skull from the remainder of the body.

Medical Examiner J. V. Meigs was notified and after viewing the body it was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertaker George W. Healey in Branch street, this city.

In the man's clothing were found a laundry check, a package of collars and a railroad ticket. The latter was so worn, however, that it was impossible to tell from what office it was issued.

It is possible that identification may be made through the laundry check which was issued by Munsey's laundry on Sept. 14, this year, to a man named Horne who at that time lived in Westford street. Horne was well known to the laundry officials and has not been seen of late. He wore an unusually large collar and those found in the clothing of the dead man were size 18.

When the matter was reported to the local police the latter started out to attempt to identify the body. It was learned that some time ago there was a Mr. and Mrs. Horne employed by Mrs. Lizzie Lake at her boarding house, 39 Chelmsford street, but they left there at least six months ago and Mrs. Lake knew nothing of their whereabouts.

Early this morning, after continued investigation, the police had learned that Horne often frequented the second-hand furniture store of A. S. Edwards. Mr. Edwards told the police that at the time he last had seen him, the man's wife had separated from him and was living in Nashua, N. H. It is thought that the man's given name was William.

Will see you at the firemen's concert and ball at the armory tomorrow evening.

A CHEMICAL BANQUET

Seventy-five men, most of whom reside in Tewksbury, enjoyed a banquet in the Richardson hotel last evening at the expense of the American Chemical Co., who was not present. The banquet was held under the patronage of Mrs. J. B. Brown, Tewksbury, who, following a recent town meeting in Tewksbury, had a dinner given with the A.C. and had a certain amount of success in the matter of securing a banquet for the American Chemical Co., which at that time was causing considerable trouble in the town. Mr. Rogers was the water and donated to "show" his friends to a banquet.

After the dinner was over, the banquet was continued by a cabinet of speakers. Besides Mr. Rogers, who presented the speakers were Henry M. Taylor, Eugene N. Robinson, Lawrence C. Robinson, George F. Lyman, J. B. Brown, M. H. Flannery, Harry L. Sheel, Samuel E. Ayler, W. Colburn, John E. Young, Murray K. Fuller and Lewis E. MacBryde.

Remember the Lowell firemen's concert and ball at the state armory tomorrow evening.

NURSES BATTLE WITH GRASS FIRE

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—Nurses and physicians at the Cushing hospital in Parker Hill avenue, Roxbury, assisted by men and women of the neighborhood, seized brooms and sticks yesterday afternoon when a grass fire threatened the building and battled valiantly in an effort to beat out the flames. Several were partly overcome by smoke.

An hour's work was required before the volunteers first fire could claim the victory. Meanwhile, some of the 50 patients in the building who could see the smoke became alarmed, but the nurses who remained in the building quieted them by assuring them that there was no danger.

The fire was discovered by Christopher Liffingworth, the janitor, who informed the superintendent, Dr. George Liffingworth, and then sounded an alarm. The flames were fanned by a high wind and the fire spread rapidly. Liffingworth got a hose in operation and enlisted physicians and nurses as volunteers. By the time the fire department, with Deputy Chief Sennott, had reached the scene the flames had made their way to the top of the hill on which the hospital stands and were rapidly moving toward the building. The tract surrounded by Parker Hill, Fisher and South Huntington avenues, Parker and Heath streets was pretty well covered by the fire, and parts of the area were almost a furnace.

The flames ultimately reached the hospital laundry and spread through the walls of that building. Liffingworth was overcome by smoke while fighting the fire there. Three nurses carried him to the hospital, where he was resuscitated. His face and hands were badly burned.

About eight acres of land were burned over.

PASTOR RESIGNS

Rev. Benjamin R. Harris Gives Up His Pastorate at Paige St. Church Because of Ill Health

Rev. Benjamin R. Harris of the Paige Street Baptist church surprised his congregation Sunday morning by announcing his resignation. He gave ill health as the cause for his decision and although his people knew he had been in poor health for some time they did not know he had determined to tender his resignation and it came as a great surprise to them. No action on his resignation has yet been taken by the church officials. He came to the Paige Street church seven years ago and his pastorate has been a very successful one.

PROF. HERTZOG PRAISES THIS PERFECT LAXATIVE

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin
an Ideal Remedy for Constipation.

In every family there is more or less occasion for a laxative remedy. It is to meet this need that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is prepared, and that this combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin makes its purpose as proven by its place in thousands of American homes.

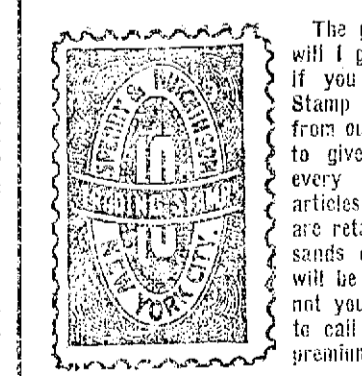

Prof. F. J. C. Hertzog, the well known lecturer, 2341 North Orleans St., Philadelphia, Pa., wrote to Dr. Caldwell that he has used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in his household with excellent results and that he and his family consider it indeed a friend in need, and always keep a bottle of it on hand.

Constipation is the direct cause of much serious illness and is a condition that should never be neglected. Harsh cathartics and other purgatives should never be employed to relieve constipation, because the very violence of their action shocks the entire system. A mild laxative, such as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is far more effective and gentle in its action, without griping or other pain or discomfort. Its freedom from any opiate or narcotic makes it an ideal remedy for children.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold in drug stores everywhere for fifty cents a bottle. To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes be sure to get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. See that a facsimile of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on the yellow card in which the bottle is packed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. F. J. C. Hertzog, 155 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

Conditions in Lowell were quite favorable quarter of a century ago at Thanksgiving time, judging from the optimistic tone of the old Sun's editorial on the holiday. Still for the purpose of comparison, I quote a part of it, after stating that atmospheric conditions were like a day in Indian summer. The editor said:

"The city, however, is free from sickness and at no time have the people been more generally employed. Of late our industries are assuming a more varied character and the consequence is that hundreds of men who could not or would not work in the mills are finding employment suitable to their tastes and capacities. There is a total absence of anything like labor troubles and the relations between capital and labor are usually growing more harmonious. The wages are not very high, but on the other hand the cost of living is not as high here as in other places not far distant, so that the laboring classes in general and the mill operatives in particular can save more of their earnings in this city than they could in other places, even with much higher wages."

HEADACHE FROM A COLD? LISTEN!

BURKE'S AUXILIARY
The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Burke Temperance Institute held a party in the society hall on Thanksgiving eve with a large attendance. Dancing was enjoyed to the music of the Manhattan orchestra until midnight. Miss Maggie Early was general manager and Miss May Brady had charge of the floor.

Trotting on Boulevard
Says The Sun of quarter of a century ago: "On Thursday (Thanksgiving day) there was a great number of trotters on the boulevard and during the day it was the resort of hundreds of pleasure parties in carriages. The boulevard is fast becoming a great pleasure resort."

That was quarter of a century ago, but so there on next Thursday even with the most favorable weather and you'll look long before you encounter a pleasure party in a carriage. In those days the boulevard was brand new and a great attraction, and all who owned horses that could spin a mile in less than five minutes resorted to them as trotters and tried their out almost daily on the boulevard until the real cold weather came. When the river became safely frozen over the local horsemen would get out their runners and continue their racing on the boulevard. The old time horsemen who could be seen on the boulevard behind fast ones in those days were C. I. Hood, Mayor Palmer, Frank Haines, James P. O'Donnell, Tom McLaughlin, the hotel proprietor, John Lennon and other men then well known in business and professional life of the city. For some years after the coming of the auto interest in horse-racing went flat locally and weeds grew up on the speedway on the boulevard. But the advent of the Lowell Driving Club has revived that interest, though whether they'll ever return to the boulevard for their races is doubtful on account of the large number of swift-flying machines that pass to and fro daily. Just prior to the opening of the boulevard and the coming of the fast horses to that section the crowd that assembled there from the country and the river and followed the favorite carmen along the river bank as the latter coursed up and down the stream, for running parallel with the speedway of the boulevard is a part of the Merrimack river that was declared by Hanton, Humes and other world-famous carmen to be the best one-mile straightaway race course for carmen in the country, and it was

The Sun of quarter of a century ago contained the following, which it had copied from the Boston Pilot: "A curious legal contest is pending in Lowell, Mass., being the suit of a man to recover the title deed to his own body. Twenty years ago in exchange of the sum of $10 and 'other considerations' he made a contract with a New Hampshire surgeon to let the latter take his body whenever he should die, and after dissection present the skeleton to a medical college. The seller, then very poor, has since made a fortune and desires to recover the title to his 'remains.' He has offered a large sum for the deed but the surgeon declines to convey it. The best thing the man can do is to outlive the surgeon, but if he should not, his heirs might get up a fine case supported by physiology, that as the human body is totally renewed every seven years, the personal property conveyed to the surgeon 20 years ago ceased to exist within seven years from the date of the deed, and the vendor might have lawfully disposed of his mortal interest at least three times within a score of years. The New Hampshire Shylock could not buy say in 1871 a clear title to a body that was not in existence until say, 1888."

The sheep have long since disappeared from the pastures of Pawtucketville, but there are still some lambs left, political and otherwise."

THE OLD TIMER.
SIR EDWIN PEARLS TELLS OF CONSTANTINOPLE
SPEAKS OF PAST AND PRESENT AND LEAVES FUTURE TO INDIVIDUAL CONJECTURE

Sir Edwin Pears, Knight Bachelor, L.L.B., and ex-president of the European bar in Constantinople, lectured yesterday before the Middlesex Women's club, his subject being "What Constantinople Has Done for the World. Guesses at Its Future." For over an hour he told in a simple but wonderfully interesting way the part that the old city on the Bosphorus has played in the growth of civilization, but the audience had to do the guessing as to its future. Sir Edwin has lived in Constantinople for over 40 years, and he did not talk for more than five minutes before one discovered that he loves the city, its history and traditions and all pertaining to the East.

The venerable lecturer, who is 55 years of age, first sketched the growth of the city, from its foundation by Constantine when it was known as "New Rome" to the days of Justinian and Theodora. Justinian, he said, loved an actress—"which was rather a good thing to do," but she was a "good actress" and the emperor determined that she should be his wife. But this is premature.

What Constantinople has done for the world was divided under four heads, viz: theology, law, development of commerce and protection of European civilization.

In theology it gave to the world the Nicene Creed which has been the keynote of faith for practically all Christian churches since A. D. 325. Both Newman and Carlyle agreed that the one essential truth in this declaration of faith is "I believe in one God."

In law, Sir Edwin told some romantic stories that made one wish for more in a like vein. He described how Theodora, the actress-empress, once decided to stay and face her enemies when Justinian was weakening. "She had worn the purple and would no longer wear cotton stuff," and she declared "if she shrunk," the empire will be a fine shroud."

Sir Edwin dwelt briefly with the history of modern Constantinople and showed how the Turk lost his empire for government and lost territory gradually until his power was but a

VILLA HOLDS CHIHUAHUA CITY; CARRANZISTAS FLEE

JUAREZ, Mex., Nov. 28.—A persistent report is current here that Gen. Trevino has evacuated Chihuahua City and is retiring eastward leaving Villa and his bandits in control of the city. The report is said to have been brought by courier to Terrell station and telegraphed to Gen. Gonzales in command here.

Carranza officials here say they have nothing definite regarding the reported retirement of Trevino, but admit the possibility that Villa holds Chihuahua City.

Early today Gen. Gonzales left for San Juan station to make a personal investigation, and if possible, learn the fate of the de facto troops in Chihuahua City.

An unconfirmed report current here is that Gen. Trevino was able to take only his cavalry out of Chihuahua City being forced to abandon his artillery to Villa and his infantry retreating to the bandit leader.

BANDITS MOVE NORTH

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 28.—Francisco Villa's bandit army after a reported capture of Chihuahua City is proceeding northward, according to Mexican information obtainable here. Carranza military officers at Juarez would not confirm the report that Villa had taken the city, but said they were advised Villa's forces were moving toward the border and steps were being taken to defend Juarez against a possible bandit attack. This action was in accordance with orders said to have been received last night from Gen. Jacinto Trevino, Carranza military commander at Chihuahua.

Trevino, one report stated, was moving southward with his forces to join the reinforcements under General Murguía reported marching toward the state capital.

Direct word from Chihuahua City last night told of fighting Sunday between the de facto forces and Villa bandits within the city and stated that the Villa forces were withdrawing to the north.

The message added that Trevino's troops were then celebrating the defeat of the bandits and that repair trains had been sent out to restore communication with Juarez. Early today telegraph lines were working only as far south as San Juan, 22 miles north of the state capital, from where Trevino's message was sent last night.

HEARS OF EVACUATION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Army officials on the border advised the war department today that they had heard repeated rumors that Gen. Trevino, the Carranza commander at Chihuahua City, had evacuated that city before the continued attack of Villa bandits. The war department, however, had no official confirmation and was inclined to doubt it.

SUCCESS FOR GERMANS

have driven the Rumanians from the line of the Topolog, and may even have broken near its northern end the line of the Argechu, along which the Rumanians were expected to make a decisive stand.

Semi-Circle Being Drawn Closer

Thus the semi-circle drawn about Bucharest and the Rumanian armies is gradually but steadily being drawn closer. Substantial successes are reported by Berlin in the new operations for tightening the grip.

Two Zeppelins Lost

The latest German air raid over England cost the raiders the loss of two Zeppelins, according to London's official report today. Both machines were brought down in flames by airplanes assisted in one case by an armed trawler.

Damage and casualties from the raid, which took place late last night over Yorkshire and Durham and extended into the North Midland counties, are believed to be slight. It is declared.

On Franco-Bulgarian Front

Considerable interest attaches to the reports of artillery activity that continue to come from the Ypres, Arras and Armentieres districts towards the northern end of the Franco-Belgian front. The Ypres sector in particular has been twice mentioned within the last 24 hours in the British reports as being the scene of a British bombardment, while today heavy German shelling of the line north of Ypres is recorded. Recent reports from Berlin declared that indications were accumulating that an attack by the German lines on the western front was in contemplation.

Entente Forces Defeated

Berlin today emphasizes the importance of the German-Bulgarian success in defeating a strong attack by entente forces along a wide front in the Monastir region. Extremely heavy losses are declared to have been suffered by the French, Serbian, Italian and Russian in an assault which ended with nothing.

Another German Naval Raid

Another raid by German naval forces near the English North sea coast is announced today. The capture

NATION-WIDE BOYCOTT IN FIGHT AGAINST THE HIGH PRICES OF FOOD

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The attack on high food prices begun here by the Housewives league and certain city officials spread today throughout New York state. Encouraged by news of sympathetic efforts in other states, the promoters declared that the movement promised to become nation-wide.

The local campaign now centres upon eggs and, beginning today, recommends a two weeks' boycott. The efforts of the state and city officials were supplemented by Congress P. Burns, mayor of Troy and president of the Mayors' association of the state.

Mayor Burns announced that he would send letters to the mayors of every city in New York state, to President Wilson, and to the governors of all states, requesting the issuance of proclamations urging people to abstain from using eggs other than for the aged, sick, infirm and children, for a period of two weeks.

Moves to Assist

The Motion Picture Exhibitors' association has volunteered the use of every moving picture theatre in this city to carry out the campaign. Slides will be shown telling the people what to do to break up the combination of those held responsible for the high prices.

Official state action under the direction of Gov. Whitman was forecast in the announcement that the governor was in conference with George W. Perkins, regarding remedies which the state could undertake. Mr. Perkins is chairman of the state's committee on food supplies. The governor plans to enlarge the commission on foods and markets through a legislative program now under preparation.

While efforts have been made to extend the boycott to turkeys and other foodstuffs now commanding fancy prices and subject to speculation, it is believed that such action, if taken, will await the result of the campaign against the high cost of eggs.

REFUSE TO BUY TURKEYS

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 28.—Following refusal of buyers here to purchase turkeys at high prices, many thousands of the fowls were still unsold today and the quotations were likely to take another tumble during the day. Many shippers yesterday asked 25 to 30 cents per pound for live turkeys and only sold a few at 25 cents a pound. Some dealers here expect the prices for dressed turkeys will drop from 40 cents a pound to about 35 cents.

ALLIES SUFFER HEAVY LOSSES IN MACEDONIA

BERLIN, Nov. 28, by wireless to Sayville.—Additional details of the success scored by the Germano-Bulgarian forces on the Macedonian front in repulsing with heavy losses to the Russians, Italians, French and British a strong attack made by these entente forces along a wide front on both sides of Monastir are given in today's army headquarters statement. The text reads:

"Macedonian front. Violent artillery fire between the front, lake and the Corua, preceded strong attacks which were launched between Teronova, northwest of Monastir and Makovo, in the head of the Cerna, and near Gruninche, by the Russians, Italians, French and Serbians against the Germano-Bulgarian lines. The attack was repulsed with heavy losses to the entente troops. Under the annihilating effects of our artillery and infantry fire the enemy suffered heavy, sanguinary losses without obtaining the slightest result."

The Bulgarians have captured the important town of Gornitsa, on the railway south of Bucharest. The Rumanian town of Curtea de Arges, south of Campulung, has been captured. The text of the statement follows: "Front of Archduke Joseph: Eastern Transylvania front. There was an increase in local artillery activity. Several Russian reconnoitering detachments were repulsed. "The A. H. has been criticised. Further operations have been initiated, beginning with engagements that resulted in substantial successes for us. Curtea de Arges is in our possession. "Army group of Field Marshal von Mackensen. In Dobruja there has been moderate fighting activity. "The Danube army has gained ground. Gurgu was occupied yesterday."

The forces invading western Rumania are now within less than 10 miles of Bucharest. The town of Gurgu, across the Danube from the Bulgarian fortress of Pustchuk is 10 miles south of the Rumanian capital. It has considerable importance from a military standpoint, owing not only to its position with respect to Bucharest, but to the fact that it is connected by railroad with the capital.

The attack on Bucharest from the north is also developing rapidly. The town of Curtea de Arges is 30 miles northwest of the city. It is 20 miles southwest of Campulung, in the vicinity of which there has been heavy fighting for several weeks.

ST. MARGARET'S REUNION

The annual reunion of St. Margaret's parish will be held tonight, in Association hall and promises to be a successful success. For St. Margaret's parish has handsomely established a splendid reputation for conducting successful reunions. A concert of rare excellence will be furnished by a troupe of professional artists from Boston. In addition there will be several new and novel features, chief of which will be the giving away of a fine turkey to an exhibitor in complete Tower's corner drug store, Frederick's orchestra will furnish music for dancing. Frank J. Campbell will be general manager, Harry McLaughlin floor marshal, assisted by the ladies and gentlemen of the parish.

The concert and ball by the women tomorrow evening promises to be the best event.

AMOI, China, Nov. 28. The Brit-

The steamer Glenogle was held up at Amoi on Nov. 21 by the Chinese authorities as she was about to sail for Mesopotamia with a number of Chinese laborers. Germans in Amoi objected to the departure of the vessel on the ground that it was a breach of Chinese neutrality. The question with the laborers were also questioned and it was asserted that the ship's voyage violated the treaty between England and China.

plan as originally suggested or the cessation of work already started.

Mr. James R. Ellis of White street and Commissioner Morse had some decided differences of opinion on the question and there were caustic interchanges that aroused some amusement.

Those who signed the original petition for sidewalks on both sides of White street from Mr. Hope to Riverside were:

Daniel Whaley 36 White street, Thomas Brossan 20 White, Michael Sullivan 14 White, Jane R. Trevino, 32 White, Zachary L. Thompson, 13 White, Hannah Ryan 18 White, Mary O'Connell 18 White, Michael Sullivan 20 White, Andrew H. Brown, 20 White, Walter Courtney 56 White, James R. Ellis, 32 White, Benjamin J. Those who signed the second petition that sidewalks be maintained at present were:

E. A. Cabern, Helen L. Lombard, Horace Taber of the Susan Cabern estate, Joseph Roux, Arthur J. Roux, Leopoldine Demers, William C. Eldridge, Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. Emma M. Hough, Mrs. O'Connell.

Mr. Morse said that he is in favor of the work going through and that the people who now protest do not know what they want as some of them signed the original petition.

Mr. Putnam: "Who changed the petition as set out from Mr. Hope to Riverside?"

Mr. Morse: "That has nothing to do with it. It was changed when the people below Second avenue protested."

Mr. Ellis said that unless the sidewalks are carried to Riverside street, the lower part of the street will be sure of a mud hole in the day to come. Why didn't you do it at first?"

Mr. Ellis: "Because I was in favor of the sidewalks all through and am still."

Mayor O'Donnell read both petitions and asked Engineer Kearney and Com-walk on fences and railings, and asked if some metal cannot be imbedded in the fence to prevent it. Commissioner Morse said that it is impossible to prevent boys from doing those things and that it would not be advisable to call for metal obstructions on top of the fence.

Mr. Varum said that there will be objection in Pawtucketville to a flat top on the fence, but Mayor O'Donnell said there are phases of the situation that cannot be helped. "You cannot make everything fool-proof," said the mayor.

High School Contract

Commissioner Duncan moved and Commissioner Morse seconded a motion that the municipal council call for divided bids on the new high school and that the bids be continued to local contractors. The motion also called for the suspension of action calling for a general contract.

Speaking on the motion, Mr. Duncan said that if the interests of the city can be as well served by local contractors and labor he thinks Lowell should have the benefit. He wants to give Lowell men the first chance to bid and he thinks foreign firms might be more inclined to do the work.

Mayor O'Donnell agreed with Commissioner Duncan that all members of the council would like to see local bids go to Lowell. He was opposed to the motion, however, partly because of the vote of the advisory board for a general contract, though the board later came to see his point of view. He is in favor of sub-divided contracts that would allow Lowell contractors to bid. He argued, he said, for the calling of bids in two separate ways. So that if the total of the sub-divided bids was less than the general bid, the sub-divided bids be accepted.

The mayor said he is in favor of the original plan for single bid and also separate bids giving Lowell men an opportunity to bid both ways. He does not question the fact that Lowell men can do the work and do it splendidly, but thinks that for the advantage of all the people, the bids should come in as already favored, viz. in one general bid and in divided bids in both of which Lowell contractors may figure.

Mr. Morse came out in favor of Commissioner Duncan's motion. He said that the city can hold each contractor who gives a bond and that the money which would go to Lowell men would be spent in Lowell.

Mayor O'Donnell asked if there is any objection to the previous plan and Mr. Putnam said that a Boston contractor might bring in a general contract that would be merely a few hundred dollars higher than local bids, with possible complications. He is in favor of a thorough job and thinks the city can get it from local contractors.

Mr. Morse said that if there is a few hundred dollars difference, more than that would come back to all Lowell merchants if bids go to this city.

Mayor O'Donnell said he is in favor of the plan proposed by the advisory board and the board of trade and said that their views can be reconciled with those of local contractors and local labor. If the two systems of calling for bids be adopted.

After some discussion a vote was taken. Mr. Putnam, Mr. Morse, Mr. Morse and Mayor O'Donnell in favor of the motion and Mayor O'Donnell against it.

Petitions and Permits

The following persons petitioned for garage and gasoline licenses and the petitions were referred: Charles M. Cunningham, garage and gasoline license on Nesmith street; Charles A. Cote on Court street; Louis Townsend on Dalton street; H. J. Duplar at Davidson and Pine streets.

The Lowell Electric Light corporation petitioned for a permit to erect one pole on Adams street between Lagrange street and Broadway and one on Princeton to serve Mr. Brown of 173 and 175 Elm street. There were no opponents and the petitions were referred.

The New England Telephone and Telegraph company sought permission to erect one pole on Caspary street, east of Gurgu. Referred.

E. L. Shaw sought a claim for personal injuries and it was referred to the law department.

Alfred Armstrong for a garage and gasoline license at the Waterhead mills; Lowell Electric Light for one pole on Jefferson street and one on Plummer avenue. A hearing was set for Wednesday, Dec. 13, at 10 a. m.

A petition was received from the residents of upper Dutton street, including A. L. Brooks & Co. for the finishing of the smooth paving at that end and it was referred to the commissioner of streets.

An order was adopted calling upon the city to petition the people of city election Tuesday, Dec. 12th and also regarding their vote on the license question. Polls will be open from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m.

The commissioner of streets and highways reported favorably on the petition of the Lowell Electric Light corporation for one pole on Eleventh street, between Aberdeen street and Merrill avenue; three poles on Orchard street, between Woodward and Vermont avenue and two poles on Rend street, between Highland avenue and Stevens street.

A favorable report was also given on the petition of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company for three poles on Temple street and for four poles on Middlesex street, between Laven and Main streets.

Meeting adjourned until Friday evening at 7:30 when a hearing will be given on the matter of laying sidewalks on White street, Pawtucketville.

POPE BENEDICT WILL MAKE PLEA FOR PEACE

Pope Benedict is working daily with Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, on an allocation which he will deliver in a secret consistory on Dec. 1. This allocation will be one of the most important documents issued by the papacy since the beginning of the war.

The allocation will show, it is said, the perfect impartiality of the holy see, which desired altogether to prevent the war, but, having failed, used all means at its disposal to shorten the conflict, meanwhile making arrangements to alleviate the sufferings caused by the war without any distinction of nationality or creed of the belligerents. This allocation, it is reported, will make another desperate appeal in favor of peace, inviting the faithful throughout the world to continue their prayers with that as the object.

The death of Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria-Hungary and the accession to the throne of Emperor Charles have obliged the pope to make allusions in his allocation. He will speak of the life of the emperor, his attachment to religion and the church, and he will express the hope that the reign of the new ruler may soon be crowned with the blessing of peace.
